SNOW SLIDE PERILS 500 IN CANYON

Transit Strike Throttles Philadelphia

11,000 Workers Walk Out

Three Million Hit By Action

PHILADELPHIA—(UP)—A city-wide transit strike throttled Philadelphia's transportation system today and most of the 3,000,000 daily passengers drove or walked to work. Many stayed home.

Regular and extra trains were jammed to the doors with persons normally using the stricken trolley, bus, subway and elevated lines. The entire city fleet of 2,000 taxicabs made only a dent in the transportation problem.

The transit system was shut down at 12:01 a. m. when the 11,000 operating and maintenance workers of the Philadelphia Transportation company left their jobs in demand for higher wages. But the impact of the strike was not felt until the morning rush hour started.

Main traffic arteries were filled with long lines of automobiles moving almost bumper-to-bumper into the mid-city business section.

STREETS GLAZED
Streets, glazed with the remains of a four-inch snowfall, added to the congestion and caused numerous minor accidents throughout the city.

Railroad stations were choked with pushing and shoving throngs who fought their way to the street after arriving a half to one hour late.

The downtown sidewalks were crowded with pedestrians trudging through the snow in almost a gay mood. They seemed the least perturbed of the millions forced onto their own by the walkout.

Several high schools reported only half the normal attendance. The strike left the people with only private automobiles, taxis and taxis for transportation. Schools remained open, with teachers and other school employees transported in chartered buses.

Negotiations aimed at settling the strike continued even after the transit system shut down. But they were as futile as other 11-hour efforts to stop the walkout.

The last negotiating session ended shortly after 3 p. m. without a settlement, although the company and union representatives agreed to meet again today.

Fear 5 Dead In Crackup

WILMINGTON, Del.—(INS)—Five Air Force flyers are feared dead today in the crash of a B-26 bomber near Milton last night.

Three bodies already have been discovered. One, covered with a half-opened parachute, was found a half-mile from the wreckage.

Names of the victims were withheld by the Air Force pending the notification of next of kin.

The plane, which crashed during a heavy snow storm, was en route to Greenville, S. C. from Mitchell Field, N. Y.

Wrong Jones Collects On Bonus Check

A bonus is a bonus, but the federal government claims the Richard A. Jones who received a World War I bonus in 1936 is the wrong Richard A. Jones.

The number one Jones, a former Mansfield shoe store manager, received the bonus. Number two Jones, not identified, evidently didn't receive his.

As a result, U. S. District Attorney Don C. Miller has filed suit in Federal court, Cleveland, seeking to recover $51.91 in overpayment and accumulated interest allegedly owed by number one Jones.

Miller claims Jones (still number one Jones) received $538 in the first place, a $42.50 overpayment.

The ex-Mansfield Jones is now a superintendent of schools in Nebraska.

Story of a Nip, Man, And Match

The air had a nip to it, and one rural Mansfield resident had several in him last night. The nippy air and the 'nipped' man didn't match well, so another match was brought into the picture.

This match was the one used by the frigid victim to light a fire on the back porch of the R. M. Harter home, State Route 13, south of Mansfield. Deputies summoned to the scene after the fire was discovered early this morning extinguished the blaze which had burned a ten-inch hole in the porch flooring.

The figure they found huddled near the fire is currently cooling his heels in the warm county jail.

Cites Extra Privileges For 'Sally'

Writer Charges She Dines Out

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Attorneys for Mildred (Axis Sally) Gillars today hoped to call Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Jr. to explain her claims that the treason defendant enjoys special privileges.

Miss Gillars is being tried on charges of making treasonable broadcasts for the Nazis during the war. The trial is in recess until Monday.

Chief Defense Counsel James J. Laughlin said he may seek a mistrial on the basis of statements which Mrs. Hearst, wife of a New York publisher, made in her newspaper column.

She wrote that Miss Gillars is allowed to leave the district jail "and eat her meals in any restaurant."

Government officials flatly denied this.

Laughlin's attempts to subpoena Mrs. Hearst failed. But he said he hopes to bring her from New York to question her about the claim.

Jurors hearing the case have been instructed repeatedly by Federal Judge Edward M. Curran not to read any newspapers or listen to any radio news broadcasts during the trial.

Before the sessions were adjourned for the weekend yesterday, the jury heard playbacks of recordings in which a woman's voice the government claims is the defendant's blamed the late President Roosevelt for America's entry into the war.

Murder Suspect Back In Fremont

FREMONT—(INS)—Arthur Benner Jr., 21, of Detroit, was brought to Fremont today to face a murder charge in connection with the slaying of a Fremont policeman last November.

Three Fremont law enforcement officials went to Florida yesterday to pick up Benner, who was arrested in Sarasota last week on a bad check charge.

Red Conspiracy In the U. S. A.

Spy Probe Moves Into Nation's Film Capital

By ROBERT STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

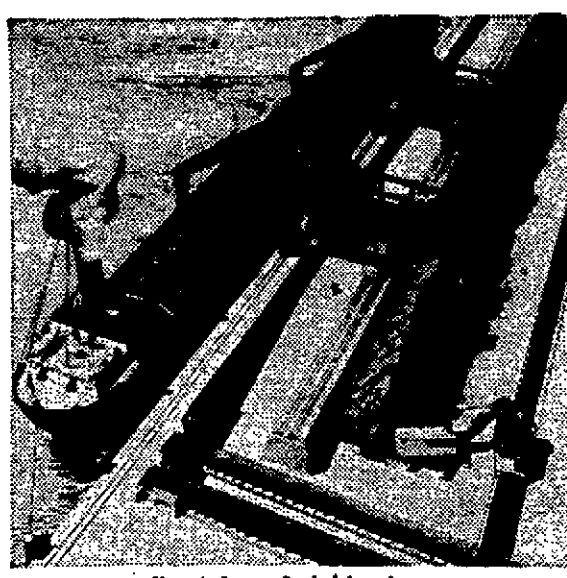

(Editor's Note: This is the thirteenth article by Stripling, who shows, for the first time, the inner workings of the House Committee which he served.)

If the Communist party could seize the motion picture industry as completely as it has seized a number of supposedly impregnable U. S. unions and other organizations, it could hasten by many years its long-range plan to communize the country.

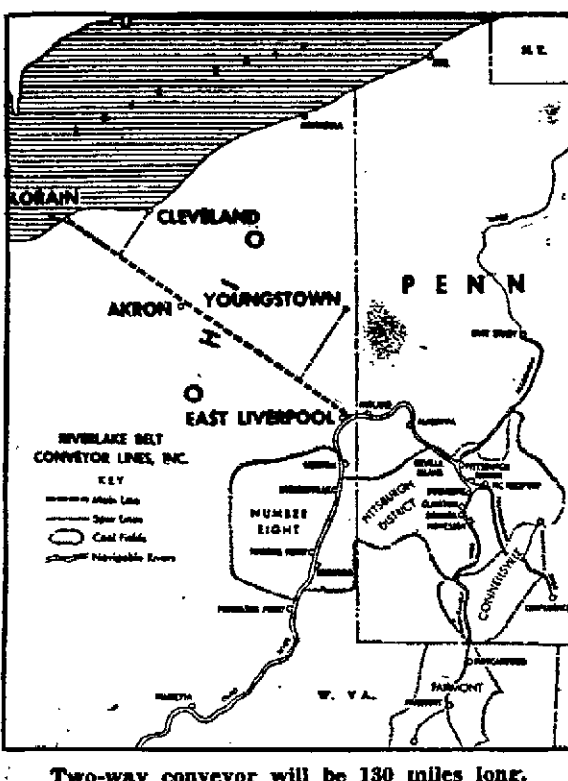

About 75,000,000 Americans attend movies each week. Most of the patrons believe what they see.

The House committee on un-American Activities inquired into communism in Hollywood because our investigators were able within a short period to unearth 33 card-bearing communists, writers, directors, actors and actresses, and to compile thick dossiers on the communist activities of 75 other influential persons in the film industry.

There were indications that there were easily more, and that

Ore goes direct from freighter to conveyor.

Two-way conveyor will be 130 miles long.

Elevated throughout the belt conveyor eliminates grade crossing hazards, surface interference.

INDUSTRIALISTS PONDERING—The proposed linking of Lake Erie and the Ohio river by means of conveyor belts to be used in hauling iron ore and coal has industrial executives wondering what the future effects might be. Potential effects of the system reach into iron ore, coal, steel, rail, river barge, and lake shipping industries but comment is slow in coming. The line would reach from Lorain to East Liverpool, with spurs leading to Cleveland and Youngstown.

Delays Tax Bill Action

Truman Puts 'Benefits' First

WASHINGTON—(INS)—President Truman was disclosed today to have asked congressional leaders to place social security legislation ahead of taxes.

The request will result in a delay of at least two months in consideration of the President's demand for a four billion dollar increase in taxes.

Tax hearings therefore are expected to be postponed until early May by the House ways and means committee, which anticipates that it will take several months to dispose of social security.

The President's request was made to House Speaker Rayburn (D) Texas, and House Majority Leader McCormack (D) Mass., at a recent White House meeting with congressional leaders. He is expected to make his position formally known to committee members next week.

Dealers See Tapering Off

Steadier Market Slows Grain Sales

The grain market slump, which had Richland county farmers worried and the grain dealers busy earlier this week, appeared to be tapering off today.

Grain elevators handled a small flood of wheat and corn during the first part of the week when prices skidded. Corn prices broke from about $1.35 a bushel on Feb. 2 to $1.16 on Feb. 8. Yesterday the price was up to $1.24.

One grain elevator operator today saw a decided tightening up in grain selling by farmers. He explained that it was free-moving, high moisture corn that was bringing the market down.

The Richland County Farm Bureau Co-op today at 10:30 a. m., had purchased no grain and reported both wheat and corn prices up slightly over yesterday.

The United Press reported that government agents buying heavily have helped stop the drop and have tried to bring the market down in an orderly fashion rather than in a major fall-off.

If the price of farm products is permitted to fall headlong, some see a major depression. The government would lose millions of dollars under its farm loan program and the income of the nation's farmers would be far below that of industrial workers and other income groups, press dispatches said.

Today's opening stock prices supported these opinions. At the Chicago board of trade corn was only one-fourth to two cents lower, a significant change from the prices that fluctuated as much as eight cents during the week. July corn futures remained steady.

The leaflets urged support of a merger of the CIO-United Farm Equipment Workers with the UAW.

Mother, Seven Children Die

CLAYTON, N. Y.—(UP)—A housewife and seven of her eight children were burned to death early today when fire destroyed their home near here.

Mrs. Clifford Conant, 29, and the seven children, ranging in age from one to 11, were trapped in a one-story frame dwelling, two miles south of this St. Lawrence river village.

The husband, Clifford, 39, and a daughter, Susan, 13, escaped. Susan was awakened by smoke. She roused her father. They fled from the house.

Chambers Linked to Spy Story

Wood Hints New Probe

BULLETIN
OGDENSBURG, N. Y.—(INS)—Sam Carr, alleged key man in the Soviet atomic spy ring smashed in Canada three years ago, was deported from the United States today through the U. S. Immigration station at Ogdensburg.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The House un-American activities committee indicated today that it may question Whittaker Chambers regarding a Soviet spy ring which operated with amazing efficiency in pre-war Japan.

It was learned that Chambers, self-confessed former communist spy courier, already has made numerous disclosures concerning Soviet agents who operated in Japan and used the United States as a base.

Un-American Activities Chairman Wood (D) Ga., said it will be up to the committee to decide whether to proceed in the matter, but added:

"I think we should pursue an investigation into the participation of American citizens in the Japanese affair."

Members of the committee will meet today with military intelligence officials and undoubtedly will seek further details of the army's report Wednesday that Americans participated in a spy ring.

CLEAR REMINGTON

Meanwhile, William W. Remington, whose name figured prominently in the Soviet spy hearings, returned to his $10,000-a-year government post today after a federal loyalty review board cleared him of disloyalty charges.

Remington was suspended from his job as director of the Commerce department's export control staff after Elizabeth Bentley, confessed former communist spy courier, accused him of providing her with information for Russia during the war.

The review board which cleared the 30-year-old official, at the same time ordered the "immediate" dismissal by the Federal Security agency of Dorothy Bailey on loyalty grounds.

Miss Bailey, former executive board member of the CIO's United Public Workers' union, was suspended from government service about three months ago upon recommendations of the fourth regional loyalty board.

Four Gunmen Escape

COLUMBUS—(UP)—A Personal Finance company office here was robbed of an undisclosed amount of money yesterday afternoon by four men described by police as "efficient and well-dressed." They held employees and customers at bay with guns while they rifled a cash drawer.

The government prosecutor, in announcing the development last night, said that all 15 men had confessed. He identified their leader as the Rev. Vassil Siapkov, who allegedly had contacts with former officials of the American and British missions in Bulgaria.

A Sure Way to Win!

Bookies Bilked, Charges Filed Against Gamblers

SEATTLE—(UP)—Three gamblers who bilked local bookies out of thousands of dollars with concealed short-wave radio receivers, appear in court today on charges of violating the Federal Communications act.

Eddie Plesa, well-known northwest jockey; Ralph Casey, 33, and George LaClair, 35, both of New York, were released on $1,500 bail each last night, following their arraignment.

FCC agents closed in on the trio in a downtown hotel room yesterday. U. S. Marshall Edward Scully said officers seized an unlicensed custom-built radio transmitter.

Scully said the gambling ring used the transmitter to flash running accounts of major horse races to accomplices stationed in local bookmaking establishments.

Most Seattle bookies reportedly get race results by wire. Betting is closed down minutes after post time. Scully said the accomplices picked up winners

Mercury To Climb, Then Dip

Mansfielders who shivered last night in the 10-above temperatures are due for some more shivering Sunday, the weatherman warned today.

A warm-up in the Wyoming area is expected to bring a rise in the mercury tonight and Saturday with Saturday's high temperatures forecast at 45 degrees. Temperatures are expected to plunge again early Sunday and hold through Tuesday.

Good news for ice skaters came today from City Park Superintendent Frank Burton who said the ice at North Lake and Liberty parks was safe and that lights will be turned on tonight for skaters.

Yesterday's sudden snow storm gave way to sunny skies today, bringing the mercury up to 23 at noon. A blizzard, which lasted less than a half-hour along Lake Erie yesterday, came as a result of a cold-air mass moving into the state from the northwest, weathermen said.

Five day extended Ohio weather forecast:

Temperatures will average near normal. Mild Saturday, turning colder by Sunday. Rising trend Monday, turning colder again by Tuesday night. Precipitation will average one-fourth to one-half inch as snow flurries Saturday night and Sunday and rain or snow Monday and probably again Tuesday.

Churchmen Imprisoned

Bulgaria Charges 15 With Spying

SOFIA—(INS)—Fifteen leading ministers of the Evangelical church were under indictment by the Bulgarian government today, charged with espionage on behalf of the United States and Britain.

The fifteen arrested were also accused of black-market currency dealings. Their trial is expected to begin late this month.

(The communist-controlled Bulgarian government's bill of particulars against the clergymen strongly resembled the charges leveled at Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, who was sentenced to life imprisonment by the Hungarian regime. Both states are satellites of the Soviet union.)

(In Washington, Bulgaria's exiled opposition leader Dr. Georgi Dimitroff, said that the indictments were additional evidence of the communists' intention to "liquidate religion.")

The government prosecutor, in announcing the development last night, said that all 15 men had confessed. He identified their leader as the Rev. Vassil Siapkov, who allegedly had contacts with former officials of the American and British missions in Bulgaria.

New Storms Buffet West

(By United Press)
The west was struck today by a series of ground blizzards, floods and dangerous avalanches.

Winds up to 50 miles an hour cut sheets of old snow from the deep drifts smothering the ranges of Wyoming and the Dakotas and hurled the flakes into new piles that clogged roads just opened by the army.

A snow and rock slide roared down a Blue Mountain gorge between Pendleton and La Grande in eastern Oregon and derailed five cars of a Union Pacific freight train under 35 feet of debris.

A big slide on the Oregon side of the Columbia river several miles east of Astoria swept a 300-foot stretch of railroad track into the river. Track walkers discovered it in time to flag down a passenger train.

Teams Battle For 2nd Spot

Three Northern Ohio league basketball teams are on tap to-night with Norwalk and Ashtabula battling to break a tie for second place. The two teams have each won four and lost two in the loop. Bellevue entertains Crestline and Norwalk plays at Willard. In the other league game, Gallion plays at Shelby. That game ends the Shelby home court antics for the season, although the Whippets have two road games scheduled before the Mansfield sectional tournament. In non-league games, Bucyrus plays Mansfield Madison at Mansfield Senior high and Austintown Fitch plays at Upper Sandusky.

Edison plays at Marengo to-night with the Morrow county league lead at stake. Suddenly, though New London goes to Huron.

Favored Brooks Need Everything

By LAWTON CARVER
NEW YORK — (INS) — The Brooklyn Dodgers, favorites to win the National League pennant, are all set for the coming season, except that they need a first baseman, a third baseman, a regular outfield and possibly some pitching. Their position as the club to beat was re-strengthened today as a result of a pre-spring training news conference conducted by president Branch Rickey and manager Burt Shotton. However, their weaknesses seeped through the conversation to blunt manager Shotton's forthright summation of his prospects as follows: "I have picked my club about 50 times in newspaper interviews to win the pennant next season and I think we will, although the St. Louis Cardinals will, as usual, be tough." Shotton, a genteel old fellow, won the pennant with the Dodgers in 1947 as stand-in manager for suspended Leo Durocher, a

Bucyrus 5 Rates Tough In District

The largest crowd ever to witness a Madison home game is expected to jam Senior high gym tonight for a preview of the March 1 opening game of the Class A sectional tournament. The same two teams will meet in the first game of the tourney on the same floor. Bucyrus will bring a team which has won 12 of 13 games and has been strengthened recently by the addition of a former Columbus South regular Paul Katterhenrich.

Katterhenrich started his first game Tuesday as Bucyrus bopped Marion Harding, 51-45, and led the team with 20 points. He plays center. Bill Kibler, who remembered as a great football halfback, is probably the second most dangerous Bucyrus scorer from his forward position. On the Madison side of the ledger, Coach Blaine Dowler hopes his team can "bounce" from its three straight losses at the hands of Shelby, Crestline, and Lexington.

The Rams slipped a little more in each succeeding game, causing Dowler to send them through a four-hour practice session Wednesday afternoon. Fundamentals were the order of the day with a review being made of plays taught earlier in the year.

STILL ON FUNDAMENTALS
Another fairly long practice on fundamentals was held yesterday, but Dowler was still undecided on his starting lineup. He will likely start the "regular" five and then switch to the platoon system if the starters do not click. The skipper has been toying with the idea of moving Ed Chelski up to forward on the "junior" five to give him better shots at the basket. Russ Glenn would move back to a guard position. Doors will open at 6:15 tonight with the reserve preliminary scheduled to start at 7:15. Madison's reserve team will be after its tenth victory in 12 starts.

West Fifth Quint Loses First To Newman, 23 to 19

Massillon May Get High School All-Star Contest

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor
COLUMBUS—The Ohio high school North-South all-star football game and coaches' clinic—a week-long affair—probably will be shifted from Cleveland to Massillon.

The fourth annual contest was awarded Lakewood high school by the Ohio High School Coaches association several weeks ago, but Ralph Ness, Lakewood coach, said today the school had been unable to line up the required facilities.

At Van Wert, Coach Gil Smith, president of the Coaches' association, said he was polling the association's 16 directors for a "yes or no" vote on whether they favored shifting the game to Massillon, only other bidder for the classic.

MATHER WILLING
Chuck Mather, Massillon coach, said he was willing to take over sponsorship of the game and clinic. Mather, named the "coach of the year" in the Buckeye scholastic realm, led his Massillon Tigers to the state championship in his first year there, after moving up from Hamilton last fall.

Ness, according to Smith, was unable to obtain the Cleveland Municipal stadium, and felt the Lakewood facilities were inadequate for holding the game and clinic, at which numerous top-flight college and professional mentors are to give pointers to the Ohio group.

TWO AT CANTON
The Massillon high school stadium holds about 20,000. The clinic and game the last two years have been staged at Canton. Just a few miles east of Massillon, after the inaugural event at Toledo.

Ness, although losing sponsorship of the game at Lakewood, will remain as head coach of the Northern all-stars, a position he was awarded by his fellow coaches. Dates for the annual classic have not been set, but it is held usually in mid-August.

NOTHING DEFINITE
Ness said in Cleveland he had been dicker with the Cleveland Indians for use of the lakefront stadium but he had been given no definite answer.

"We felt the time was getting too short so we decided to give up on Cleveland and go to Massillon," he said. First choice on the game would be the weekend of Aug. 12-13, he said, with second choice the following weekend. Ness said it was, pretty certain that the directors will approve the shift.

Thackara Turns Down Buck Offer

HAMILTON — (AP) — Charles Thackara, local high school football coach has turned down an offer to become junior varsity gridiron coach at Ohio State university.

In announcing his decision, Thackara said he had considered the offer for three weeks. He expressed the opinion he has a better future in Hamilton. Thackara's high school gridders lost only one game last season.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians announced today they have purchased the contract of shortstop Artie Wilson from the Birmingham Barons of the Negro American League.

The Dodgers also have 19 outfielders, all of whom also are in the lineup at the same time. If not, you pick the three starters.

33 Quintets To Fire In Pin Tourney

Some 33 teams are listed for pin firing in the second week end of the Mansfield Bowling association's city handicap tournament on the Richland Recreation Center alleys.

Two shifts of team competition is slated for Saturday, according to Joe Laibich, secretary of the association. One shift takes the alleys at 7 p. m. with the second going at 9 p. m. Nine more teams will roll Sunday at 6 p. m.

DOUBLES, SINGLES SUNDAY
Two sections of doubles and singles entrants will take to the lanes Sunday, the first at 2 p. m. and the second at 4 p. m.

The annual tournament will continue through March 6. The MAPCO quintet leads the competition with 2975 followed by the defending champion, Oak Park Tavern outfit with 2960. Other leaders follow: Doubles, Bill Jacobs-Carl Snyder, 1235 and Bill Layland-Earl Lucas, 1230; singles, Homer Bottmley, 665 and R. Krichbaum, 637; all events, Lucas, 1854 and Krichbaum, 1832.

Favored Clubs Win In Ashland Tourney

ASHLAND—The Ashland county tournament opened last night with all three favored teams emerging victorious although it took Polk two overtime periods to down a scrappy Jeromesville team, 34-33.

Perrysville, the winner for the last two years, opened the tournament carnival by defeating Hayesville, 55-37.

The two big guns in the "Admirals" victory were Smully Smith and Herb Brown, with 18 and 15 points, respectively.

SAVANNAH ROMPS
In the final game of the evening, heavily favored Savannah defeated Nova 50-37. It was a surprisingly close game until midway in the third period when Eby and Lindsay found the range for Savannah and enabled the Sailors to pull away to a fairly comfortable lead. Eby dropped in 18 points while Lindsay scored 15.

In tonight's games Sullivan goes against Ruggles at 6:15. Jeromesville battles Hayesville in the second contest with Perrysville and Polk meeting in the final game of the evening. All games are played on the Ashland college floor. Double eliminations are in effect.

The experts were bewildered by this first world title bout of 1949 because they couldn't understand why Pep—who had been knocked out in the fourth round by Saddler last Oct. 29—was favored at 6-5 to recapture the undisputed 126-pound crown. No one ever turned that trick before.

Nor could they understand why this repeat performance of a top-sided scrap should attract a self-estimated crowd of 18,000 and a record indoor featherweight title gate. In October, Saddler gave Wee Willie the worst beating of his career and smashed him to the canvas three times before he was counted out.

Young Saddler appeared so superior in October that it's doubtful if the 20th Century club would have arranged for a return bout, had not contracts for the first fight provided specifically for a garden return on Feb. 11, in case of a Saddler victory.

As it was, 20th Century officials had so little confidence in the return tilt that they reduced ringside prices from the October $1

Ontario and Bellville Meet In Top County Battle

Warriors Need Win To Cinch '49 Title

By CHARLEY STINE
The Richland County league's top basketball game of the 1948-49 season is set for 8:30 tonight at Bellville between the host Blue Jays and the league-leading Warriors of Ontario.

At stake is the league championship as well as the honor of being cast in the role of favorite in the two week-away county tournament.

Ontario can tie down the title securely by winning while a defeat will tie the competing teams and leave either a chance to win in the final session next Friday. A three-way tie with Lexington moving into the picture is also possible should Bellville win tonight.

500 TO WATCH
Only about 500 fans will be privileged to witness the contest. They will jam every nook and corner of the Bellville gym while a much larger number will undoubtedly be turned away. Many will remain away altogether for fear of not getting in. Doors open at 6:45.

Ontario won the first meeting of the two schools in December by a 37-33 score, on Ontario's floor. In Bellville's favor tonight is its familiar floor plus the fact that the Blue Jays have been improving fast and have won seven of their last eight games.

Over the entire season, Bellville has won 11 and lost 4 while Ontario has a 12-1 record. The Warriors only defeat came 45-39 at the hands of Lexington last Friday.

Bellville coach Harry Regula has refused to name a starting lineup for tonight's battle while Dick Casad of Ontario nominated Jack Perry and Rich Hunt at guards, Charlie Hammer at center and Howard Sunnucks and either Don Terman or Carl Duffner at forwards. Terman has been the regular starter has looked good previously as a sub.

PICK A PAIR
Bellville will open with Bill Balliet and Bill Smith at guards but at the other spots Regula remained non-committal. He will pick a pair of forwards among Jim Fry, Will Walker, Fred Collins and Jack Stevens, and a center from between Stan Bowers and Bill Lyon.

Reserve teams of the two schools will open the program at 7:30 p. m.

Other county schools, primarily in readying their teams for the county tournament, will play three games.

Probably the best battle will be at Butler where Plymouth will send its high scoring Desmond Donnerworth against the improving host club.

Lucas invades Union in another game while Lexington's revitalized Minutemen entertain Shiloh.

In first round games, Butler defeated Plymouth, 45 to 34; Lexington won over Shiloh, 48 to 21 and Lucas beat Union, 48 to 32.

Buffalo Can Win Title So Sugar Knocks Him Out
WILKES-BARRE, PA. — (UP) — Welterweight champion Ray Robinson stepped blithely into the ring last night for a non-title fight with Gene Buffalo, but suddenly he was jolted by a loudspeaker announcement.

Buffalo weighed 145 1/2 pounds — one and a quarter pounds under the welterweight limit. So the fight could be conceived as a title bout even though Robinson himself was over the limit.

"Why, my title's at stake. I'll have to take care of this guy in a hurry," Robinson told his stunned seconds.

Result: Ray Robinson, 151, New York, knocked out Gene Buffalo, 145 1/2, Wilkes Barre, in 2:55 of the first round.

New Washington Schedules Meet
NEW WASHINGTON — The New Washington Lions club is planning an invitational basketball tournament for the New Washington high school gyms.

Ohio Staters Collide With Leading Illini

CHICAGO — (UP) — League leading Illinois defeated Ohio State in seven western conference games — will play host to a potential Ohio State team tomorrow in the top attraction of a four-game big nine program.

The Buckeyes have won five conference games, and lost three and must turn back the Illini to keep their title hopes alive.

The return to the lineup of the ailing Dick Schnitter, one of the loop's deadliest shooters, coupled with the offensive sorcery of Bob Raidiger and Bob Bonham provide Ohio State with a pulverizing attack.

The Illini, after playing the Buckeyes tomorrow, still must face Iowa, Northwestern Michigan and Indiana. Only the Wolverines seem likely to prove a stumbling block for coach Harry Combes' lads from Champaign, Iowa and Indiana will meet the Illini at Champaign.

The Illini will face Northwestern in Chicago Stadium and Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Minnesota, runnerup to Illinois with six victories and two setbacks, will meet Iowa (1-5) tomorrow in the Gophers' fieldhouse. Michigan, now in third place with four wins and two losses, will invade Indiana (2-4).

Last place Northwestern (1-5) opposes Wisconsin (1-5) in the opener of a collegiate doubleheader in Chicago Stadium.

Purdue travels to East Lansing for a non-conference game with Michigan State.

Minnich, a resident of Napoleon, O., graduates in June. He is a "T" quarterback, and was voted the most valuable player by his teammates.

Western Kentucky Not Interested In Tourny
BOWLING GREEN, Ky. — The Western state college basketball team — ranked sixth in the nation in the associated press poll — last night declined a bid to play in a post-season invitational tournament at Cincinnati March 7-9.

Hilborns Spark Bowling; Bob Smashes Fine 677

If anyone ever organizes a father-son bowling tournament there is one Mansfield entry which is sure to win hands down—at least it would have last night.

The high-scoring pair are Bob and Art Hilborn, and last night it was the younger member of the family who was showing his "professional" pop a few tricks.

Bob tossed 255-200-222-677, while his father, rolling on the same team, settled for 210-216-199-625. The two carried Yunker's to a 2955 team total and a tie for the Commercial B league lead.

Yunker's swept three straight from Mansfield Rug and Linoleum while Dearman's lost its grip on first place by taking only two from Ring-side.

OTHERS HELP OUT
The other members of the Yunker's team were not exactly laying down on the job. Dean Hahn put together a 574 series, Farrell Hupp fired 560, and Ken Carlisle "trailed" with 519.

Three other bowlers got on the 600 honor roll. J. Willard of Zitters pounded out 193-225-212-635, Leroy Wolf of Ingram-Martin posted 231-193-202-626, and Hammy Johns carved out 203-211-193-607 for Schroers.

Just under the mark were: Nick Weber, Liederkrantz, 599; Bud Traxler, Ringside, 598; Darrell McCullough, Dearman's, 590, and J. Heiser, Liederkrantz, 582.

Evelyn Marshman, Lemley Cleaners, knocked down pins to the tune of 169-164-199-532 to lead the Women's Commercial A league at the Colony. Thelma Cox, Mansfield Frosted Foods, was second with 188-177-164-529 while Arlene Peters, PD's Bar, had 192-176-153-521.

Others: Sue Humphrey, Ohio Sport Center, 512; Sall Knackstedt, Mansfield Beverage, 506; Helen Kemle, PD's Bar, 503 and Mercedes Heiser, Beverage, 502. Knackstedt had a 208.

Seventh place PD's took all team honors with a 2330 total and a 639 single game. League-leading Ohio Sport Center took two of three from Outlet Furs.

Helen McCracken of Tappan No. 1 led Women's Industrial league bowlers with a 466 series put together on games of 144, 514, and 168. She was followed by Audrey Campbell, 456, Irma Kunz, 455, and Mary Jameson, 441, all of Dominion and Kay Stringfellow of Mansfield Tire, 428.

Tappan Stove leaguers were led by J. Klier's 180-175-209-554. Trailing were: Virgil Shaffer, 554; Bill Daugherty, 541; Bill Mabey, 539; Fred Domer, 517; and Paul Wolf, 514.

Eileen Swank topped Amvet Auxiliary bowlers with a 413 roll-off for Kallmerten and Baer at Richland Recreation. She was trailed by Kay Coffendorfer and Hulda Pahls of Hughes Hardware, who had 409 and 404 respectively, and Mary Ann Culler of the same team who had 399.

Belgium Sledder Is Killed On Run
LAKE PLACID, N. Y. — (UP) — Stunned by an accident that killed Max Houben, veteran Olympic driver, and critically injured his brakeman, the Belgiums withdrew from the world two-man bobsled championships today and left three countries to vie for honors.

The United States, Switzerland and France each will send two teams down the treacherous Mt. Van Hoevenberg run this week-end in quest of the world title.

Joe Fulks Cracks Nets For Record
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — (UP) — There were 1,500 people in the Philadelphia arena last night but only one didn't realize that Joe Fulks was setting a new basketball scoring record—that was Joe himself.

The lanky Kentuckian from Kuttawa chalked up 63 points for a new basketball association of America scoring standard as the Philadelphia warriors whipped the Indianapolis Jets 108-87.

Appleseeders In Eighth Win Of Campaign
UNION — Johnny Appleseed junior high racked up its eighth victory against three starts by trimming Union reserves 40-28 here yesterday afternoon.

Slim little Freddy Zahn, the Pioneers leading point-maker, tallied 17 points to set the pace for both teams. Dave Schwein got nine for Appleseed and Skeen collected the same number for Union.

ICE IN THIRD
Appleseed led 17-14 at the half and put the game on ice with a 15 point third quarter. It was the second victory of the season over Union.

Appleseed also won the preliminary game by a 28-12 score. Darce Shasky led Appleseed with nine points while Bushnell counted ten and Whitzky seven.

Pins and More Pins Feature Opening of Bowling Tourney

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — (INS) — There will be "pins" at both ends of the alley when the 46th American Bowling Congress officially gets under way in Atlantic City Saturday night.

The best looking ones will not be the usual bowling targets. The most attractive will be those sported by Wanda Sullivan, Miss Atlantic City, 1948, and a group of 45 bathing beauties—official hostesses for the event.

Each will send the first ball spinning down the 46 new alleys in Convention hall on the boardwalk.

TAKE OVER ALLEYS
A "good luck" horseshoe will be presented to each of the captains of the regular squads from 32 cities and seven states who will take over on the glistening alleys at 8 p. m.

Actually, the honor of rolling the first balls in the tournament which ends April 9, will go to booster teams from York, Pa., who will start rolling Saturday afternoon at 1 p. m. prior to the official ceremonies.

Nearly 30,000 bowlers comprising 5,444 teams from 40 states, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Cuba, will compete during the congress for 32 medals and trophies and a share of the $350,000 prize melon.

'Happy' Chandler Plans Benefit Day
MERION, PA. — (INS) — A. B. Chandler, baseball commissioner, had disclosed plans for a nationwide "baseball day" to benefit the youth of America.

Chandler said organized baseball will play a series of exhibition contests and the proceeds would be turned over to a youth welfare fund.

The baseball commissioner said it was unlikely that the games would be played until 1950. Each national league team will play an American league team, he said. He suggested that the event be called "Babe Ruth Day."

Ice Carnival Called Off This Season

Uncertainty of February weather has prompted officials to call off the second annual News-Journal Silver Skates ice carnival for 1949.

Director Stan Kamen announced today that, "Lack of ice has made practice for the ice show almost impossible and there is no certainty that North Lake park will have a skateable surface on any given day. We will try to schedule the Silver Skates earlier in 1950."

The N-J blade carnival was originally set for Jan. 30 but in mid-January the ice disappeared at North Lake park. Officials tried to set a definite date after the original postponement but the ice never remained long enough to make rescheduling feasible.

Some 70 Mansfield and Richland county youngsters and adults had signed for the 1949 show and Kamen expected a field of more than 100. Interest lagged among the skating gentry when the weather turned unpredictable this season.

The first N-J Silver Skates in 1948 attracted nearly 100 skaters and 1,500 fans.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Stengel Questions Cleveland Pitching; Thinks Yankees Have the Depth to Win

By OSCAR FRELEY
NEW YORK—(UP)—Major league pitchers don't last as long these days, and for that reason grizzled Casey Stengel, new head man of the New York Yankees, today questioned the prospects of the Cleveland Indians.

"It is much harder to pitch now than it was in the old days," Stengel observed as he awaited the start of the 1949 campaign.

"You never used to hear of so many sore arms and bone chips," he added. "There are a lot of reasons for this situation, but the biggest one is the live-liver ball."

BANK ON BIG 4
And so it is Casey's opinion that Cleveland, favored to again win the American league championship, stands the greatest risk. For the Indians' hopes are banked in their Big Four—Gene Bearden, Bob Lemon, Steve Gromek and Bob Feller.

"They had a pair of 20 game winners and Feller won 19 a year," the professor quoted. "How often does a pitcher win 20 games in a row? That's right. Not often."

So Stengel alleges that he is perfectly satisfied to have greater pitching depth and fewer supposed 20 game winners.

"We are better prepared for any trouble which might develop," he explained. "We also can work our pitchers to spots, pitting them against teams they usually can beat."

Casey believes that because of his mound depth, hit pitching prospects are much better than anybody suspects. Certainly it sounds impressive when he tolls the names of seven starters—Vic Raschi, Alvin Reynolds, Spec Shea, Bob Porterfield, Tommy Byrne, Ed Lopat and Fred Sanford—and relief pitcher Joe Page.

LADS WERE ACCUSED

Some of the lads were accused of dereliction of duty last season and failure to censure them was given as one of the reasons for dismissal of genial Bucky Harris as pilot. Asked whether he would be a strict disciplinarian, Casey spluttered and then side-stepped.

"I guess I'll take care of the cases individually. Anybody over 21 with dough at stake should be old enough to know how to take care of himself if he wants to make more dough."

Stengel is more worried about control on the mound, particularly in the case of Byrne, a young man with much stuff and little direction.

"Byrne will get a thorough trial because this has to be his year," Casey insisted. "Sure, he's wild, but if he hits a couple of the opposition's strong men maybe it will help our chances."

"I'm only kiddin'," Casey hastened to add. "I don't want to kill anybody."

And the longer he looks over his club, he vowed, the more certain he is that he has the pitching to win.

"Don't discount that depth," Casey warned. "You need it."

And if you don't have it when trouble starts, like sore arms and such, you're sunk."

That's the trouble Casey sees ahead apparently for the Indians. And he discounts the Red Sox because they don't have either a tight staff of stars or a full battery of potentials.

"There's less wrong with this club than any I've ever had," he asserted. "I'm expected to win with this club—and I expect to win with it."

Which isn't much of a statement when you consider some of the clubs Stengel had when he was up in the majors before. But the rest of the league might like to know that Casey figures he's ready to keep a long awaited date with destiny.

Sports Arbiter Now Blows Whistle on Law-Breakers

CINCINNATI—(UP)—Dan (The Man) Teehan, veteran baseball, basketball and football arbiter, is now calling them on gamblers and other law breakers. He is sheriff of Hamilton county.

Big Dan still smiles but since he pinned on a badge the first of the year he has waged war on gambling in Cincinnati and the rest of the county. There are some names on his "blotter," too.

DAN TEEHAN

Wherever a basketball or baseball is tossed, or a football boot or thrown in the middle west, the south and parts of the east, they know Teehan.

For 15 years, he has been officiating national professional football league games—in Green Bay, Wis., Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, New York, Washington and Philadelphia.

He also is an arbiter in the Southeastern conference. The sports fans know him, too, in Atlanta and Athens, Ga.

The sheriff works football and basketball games anywhere within a few hundred miles of Cincinnati, on days and nights the professional league is idle.

Teehan's schedule is a heavy one, and it calls for great endurance from his six feet, 2½ inch, 212 pound body.

52 GRID GAMES

He officiated in 52 professional, college and high school football games last season. When the basketball schedule is completed, he will have blown the whistle in 55 contests.

Teehan was an umpire in the American association for several seasons, ending his connection there in 1940. He also umpired in the mid-Atlantic league, and in the Piedmont league.

The big guy was graduated from Xavier university in 1928. He played tackle for the Musketeers and coached there for a time after receiving his diploma.

Teehan, who keeps in condition during his off-season by playing handball every day and taking a vigorous workout, was elected sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

It was the first time he ever ran for public office.

Of that victory, he said with a laugh: "It goes to show that even if they do boo the officials in sports contests, they believe we are honest."

Tipton Signs Contract

CHICAGO—(UP)—Joe Tipton, ex-Cleveland catcher recently acquired by the Chicago White Sox, has come to terms with the Sox for 1949 at a salary said to be higher than that he received with the Indians.

Signs at LSU

BARTON ROGUE, La.—(UP)—Ed McKeever, veteran college and professional football coach, yesterday was named backfield coach at Louisiana State university.

Buck Natators Swim Against Iowa Saturday

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Ohio State's slick swimming team appeared in the role of "giant killer" today as it prepared to take on a smooth-sailing Iowa outfit highly regarded by Buckeye Coach Mike Peppe.

The short but wizened Ohio State mentor planned to field his entire first string against the Hawkeyes from Des Moines in the OSU Natatorium Saturday.

CAUSE OF ALARM

Cause for some of Peppe's alarm was Wally Ris, 100-meter Olympic champion at London, last summer, who can also turn in a jet-propelled 220. Opposing Ris in the 220 will be Bill Smith, the speedy Hawaiian, who took the event in the Olympics and added the 400 yard whirl for good measure.

The Ohio State Tankers proved last Saturday that formidable competition doesn't worry them too much as they sank North Carolina, winner of southeastern swim conferences in five of the last six years, 43 to 32.

The buck grapplers, who floor Indiana 16 to 11 last Saturday, will meet Illinois Saturday. The OSU Thinclads will make their first dual meet appearance of the indoor season at Michigan State tonight.

Detroit Lions Sign Boykin

DETROIT—(UP)—Richard Boykin, 22, a former Ironton, O., high school football star, was signed yesterday by the Detroit Lions of the National Football league.

The rangy negro fullback has no college football experience, as he elected to take a job instead when he was graduated from high school. He has played for the Ironton Bengals, a semi-pro outfit for two seasons.

Lions sources said that Ed McMillin, coach and general manager of the Lions, tried unsuccessfully to persuade Boykin to enroll at Indiana university two years ago when McMillin was coach there.

Boykin is the fifth rookie to be signed up for the 1949 Lions. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

House Bill Presented to Strip Lausche of Ouster Powers

Anti-Gaming Legislation Hits Snag

Penry Indicates Fight on Removals

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS (AP) — Gov. Lausche's plan for a state-wide war on organized gambling headed today into a legislative battle.

He has asked the same removal power over sheriffs indifferent to gambling he holds over mayors. A bill to grant it is pending in the Senate.

But Rep. Walter G. Penry (R-Delaware) can't see things that way. He introduced a House bill before yesterday's weekend adjournment to strip Lausche of his power to oust mayors derelict in duty.

Lausche during his 1945-46 term acted against mayors in his crusade against commercialized gambling. But he needs a weapon over sheriffs to make it state-wide.

Penry's stand indicates the governor won't get the additional authority without a fight.

Measures to carry out administration plans for a temporary disability unemployment insurance fund in Ohio were introduced in both houses.

Such a fund "would provide income for those unprotected by workmen's compensation or jobless benefit laws who become ill or disabled away from work or while unemployed."

The bills were offered by Sen. Howard M. Metzbaum (D-Cuyahoga) and Rep. Paul Hinkle (D-Mercer).

They would create a nine-member, two-party commission to conduct hearings and draft legislation deemed necessary to create the fund.

Lausche in his January "state of the state" address called for the study pending congressional action on such a proposal.

Rep. Elizabeth F. Gorman (D-Cuyahoga) asked a severance tax of one percent of the market value of all minerals at the pit, mine or well from which they are taken.

Half the revenue would go to the state for conservation and forestry work. The rest would be distributed in the county which collects it. No estimate of the tax yield was given.

A measure was offered to permit the state welfare director to order courts to send prisoners or wards to a central bureau, instead of to designated institutions.

The House returns at 1:30 p. m. Monday, final day for introduction of new legislation in that chamber which already has received 375 measures. The Senate returns at 8 p. m. Monday. It does not observe a deadline for new bills.

Scene In Play Too Realistic

MARION — (AP) — Realism reached a new high last night during a performance by the Apollo Players, Marion's little theater group.

During a fight scene in the second act, Robert Wollett, 20, male lead in the play, "Magnetic Obsession," was stabbed accidentally with a letter opener in the hands of Bernard Lyon, 18, who was playing the villain role.

A bandage applied to the wound during the intermission enabled Wollett to appear in his role in the last act with most of the audience unaware of the accident.

Red Hurls Defiance At Assembly

Claims No Law Will Oust Party

ANNAPOLIS, MD. — (JNS) — A communist leader told the Maryland General assembly yesterday that "the communist party is here to stay—no law ever will drive us out of this state."

George Meyers, labor secretary of the party's Maryland organization, testified at the assembly session to hear arguments for and against anti-communist legislation.

Delegate Charles M. Bandiere explained the proposed law and declared it is necessary because communism is a "worldwide conspiracy directed by a foreign power seeking overthrow of the United States government."

Meyers then took the floor and denied that U.S. communists are agents of Soviet Russia or that they seek the violent overthrow of the government.

The communist official then hurled his warning that "no law" could drive the party from the state.

A crowd of more than 1,000 jammed the historic state house and battled for the 300 seats in the spectators' gallery. Special police details struggled to preserve order, and the session was late in starting due to difficulty in controlling the throng.

Drawn up by Frank B. Ober, a Baltimore attorney, the bills provide up to 20 years imprisonment for persons found guilty of un-American activities.

Galion Power Issue Agreement Believed Near

Settlement Sought By City, OPS

Electric Firm Offers Plan

BUCYRUS — Galion's controversial electric power issue appeared nearer solution today following conferences yesterday between Galion city officials and representatives of the Ohio Public Service Company.

The conferences were held after Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl overruled motions of Galion Solicitor George H. Davies that the temporary injunction, enjoining the OPS from furnishing power for two Galion industries, be made permanent and that the OPS be held in contempt of court because it accepted the franchise after the injunction was issued.

Judge Ahl announced that conferences between Galion city officials and OPS representatives would be continued in an effort to reach a settlement, whereby the private utility company would furnish such power as the city needs either at the city limits or at the power plant.

Observers pointed out that such a settlement would eliminate one sore point in the issue—objections of some officials to the private company erecting poles and lines within the city.

J. L. Strelitz, Marion attorney representing the OPS, said the OPS would furnish power to the Galion municipal plant for redistribution at a rate that would enable the municipal plant to resell the power at a profit.

Meanwhile Judge Ahl granted the city of Galion leave to file an answer in the injunction action by Feb. 15 and also gave Solicitor Davies until Feb. 26 to plead in the same action.

Another conference between Galion city officials and OPS representatives is scheduled to be held next Monday night in Galion.

Present at today's conferences were J. L. Strelitz and J. M. Halberstein, representing OPS, Solicitor Davies, Attorneys Myers and Spurlock of Bucyrus and Carl Guggler of Galion; Kels Foster, Galion service-safety director; Galion Mayor H. H. Hartmann; Galion Councilman Otto Pfeiffer, Floyd Myers, John Anker and Ralph Graham; N. R. Roberts, OPS sales engineer; Carl H. Henkel, Mansfield attorney; and Walter Williams, chief engineer at the Galion municipal light plant.

The fight started last Oct. 5 when Galion city council passed an ordinance authorizing the Ohio Public Service Company to furnish electric power to two factories. Council held that the Galion municipal light and power plant facilities were inadequate for the industrial load.

VETOES MEASURE

Mayor H. H. Hartmann vetoed the measure Oct. 13, but on Nov. 4 council repassed the ordinance over the mayor's veto.

Judge Ahl issued a temporary injunction Nov. 13 restraining Ohio Power from furnishing power to the factories until referendum petitions were filed. These petitions, which would submit the ordinance to Galion voters for their approval or disapproval, were filed with the mayor Dec. 3.

On Jan. 8, a mandamus action was filed by Galion City Solicitor George H. Davies and allowed by Judge Ahl. The writ ordered the council to submit the ordinance to a vote of electors.

On Feb. 4, council, through Attorney Carl Guggler of Galion, filed an answer to the writ, seeking its dismissal.

Kramer Tells Optimists of 'Old Days'

John Kramer, veteran Mansfield attorney, reminisced about the "Gay Nineties" Wednesday at the Optimist club's annual "It Happens Every Day" program.

Kramer told how when he entered Ohio Northern University in 1890, room and board cost only $2 a week and the tuition was $10 per semester. He boasted that he was just about the best dressed student on the campus with a $12 and a $15 suit.

"Meat shops couldn't give liver away, when I was a boy," he said, comparing today's high cost of living with prices in 1890's.

Other Optimists related amusing incidents in their lives.

Road Grader Order OK'd

Purchase of a new road grader for $11,386 from the Galion Iron Works in Galion, for the county engineering department was authorized yesterday in a resolution passed by the county commissioners.

Money for the purchase will come out of the automobile license and gasoline tax funds. Commissioners said an old grader to be replaced will be sold at public auction. The Galion firm has put in a guarantee bid of $1,500 for the old grader.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said delivery has been promised for April. The purchase is part of the equipment replacement program, Rusk said. He said the department has a program of replacing four automotive vehicles of the 30 every year to keep equipment in good condition.

Push Work On Addition To Seminary

Library, Laboratory Added to Structure

Work on a three-story addition to the Sacred Heart seminary, on State Route 39, near Shelby, which will provide additional classrooms, laboratory and library space, is nearing completion.

The addition, attached to the south side of the present structure, with its new facilities, will permit the old classrooms to be abandoned and converted into private rooms for students, a spokesman said.

On the west side of the present buildings, a new boiler room is being constructed. The boiler will be used to heat the entire institution and will serve as a base for a new chapel to be constructed there.

Friebel and Hartman, Inc., Shelby, are contractors on the two-unit construction work.

Minnesota Commemorative Stamp Issue Due March 3

A new three-cent stamp, being issued March 3 through the St. Paul, Minn., post office will commemorate the 100th anniversary of the creation of the Minnesota Territory, Curtis L. Ford, acting postmaster, said today.

The new stamp will be issued in sheets of 50 subjects, Ford said, and the printing of 100,000,000 has been authorized.

Stamp collectors desiring first-day cancellations of the stamp may send addressed envelopes, not in excess of 10, to the Postmaster, St. Paul, Minn., with postal note or money order remittance to cover the cost of stamps to be affixed, Ford said.

Those collectors desiring stamps of selected quality for philatelic use will find this new stamp available at the Philatelic Agency, Post Office department, Washington, 25, D. C., on or after March 3, 1949, it was learned.

Local officials expect the new stamp will be available in the Mansfield office within a week or 10 days after the announced date of issue.

The central design of the stamp, which is printed in green, depicts a pioneer moving westward with a Red River ox cart. The bottom border is formed by a dark panel in which is the lettering, "Red River Ox Cart".

"3 cent United States Postage" in white Gothic. In the upper left portion of the stamp, arranged in four lines of dark Gothic, is "Minnesota Territorial Centennial 1849-1949". In the same style in the upper right corner appears the lettering, "Red River Ox Cart".

Duke Gets His Tractor

Duke Thomas bought a farm with the money he'd saved in the Service, but he couldn't get a tractor. He needed it badly, but was weak on the local dealer's list.

"Tell you what," old man Peters says, "If those nine fellows ahead of you agree, you'll get the next one I get in." "No, thanks," says Duke, "I'll just take my turn."

But old Peters mails out nine postcards. And the other day he tells Duke his tractor will be in next week. "I simply wrote the facts to the fellows ahead of you. They decided it."

From where I sit, it's that spirit of understanding that helps make our democracy so great. Understanding for the other fellow's problems and respect for the other fellow's rights—whether it's his right to earn a living, his right to cast his vote against your candidate, or even his right to enjoy a moderate, friendly glass of beer or ale—if and when he chooses. Let's always keep it that way!

House Bill Presented to Strip Lausche of Ouster Powers

Anti-Gaming Legislation Hits Snag

Penry Indicates Fight on Removals

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS — Gov. Frank J. Lausche's plan for a state-wide war on organized gambling headed today into a legislative battle.

He has asked the same removal power over sheriffs in different to gambling he holds over mayors. A bill to grant it is pending in the Senate.

But Rep. Walter G. Penry (R-Delaware) can't see things that way. He introduced a House bill before yesterday's weekend adjournment to strip Lausche of his power to oust mayors derelict in duty.

Lausche during his 1945-46 term acted against mayors in his crusade against commercialized gambling. But he needs a weapon over sheriffs to make it state-wide.

Penry's stand indicates the governor won't get the additional authority without a fight.

Measures to carry out administration plans for a temporary disability unemployment insurance fund in Ohio were introduced in both houses.

Such a fund would provide income for those unprotected by workmen's compensation or jobless benefit laws who become ill or disabled away from work or while unemployed.

The bills were offered by Sen. Howard M. Metzbaum (D-Cuyahoga) and Rep. Paul Hinkle (D-Mercer).

They would create a nine-member, two-party commission to conduct hearings and draft legislation deemed necessary to create the fund.

Lausche in his January "state of the state" address called for the study pending congressional action on such a proposal.

Rep. Elizabeth F. Gorman (D-Cuyahoga) asked a severance tax of one percent of the market value of all minerals at the pit, mine or well from which they are taken.

Half the revenue would go to the state for conservation and forestry work. The rest would be distributed in the county which collects it. No estimate of the tax yield was given.

A measure was offered to permit the state welfare director to order courts to send prisoners or wards to a central bureau, instead of to designated institutions.

The House returns at 1:30 p. m. Monday, final day for introduction of new legislation in that chamber which already has received 375 measures. The Senate returns at 8 p. m. Monday. It does not observe a deadline for new bills.

Scene In Play Too Realistic

MARION — Realism reached a new high last night during a performance by the Apollo Players, Marion's little theater group.

During a fight scene in the second act, Robert Wollett, 20, male lead in the play, "Magnificent Obsession," was stabbed accidentally with a letter opener in the hands of Bernard Lyon, 18, who was playing the villain role.

A bandage applied to the wound during the intermission enabled Wollett to appear in his role in the last act with most of the audience unaware of the accident.

Red Hurls Defiance At Assembly

Claims No Law Will Oust Party

ANNAPOLIS, MD. — (INS) — A communist leader told the Maryland General assembly yesterday that "the communist party is here to stay—no law ever will drive us out of this state."

George Meyers, labor secretary of the party's Maryland organization, testified as the assembly met in a tense and noisy session to hear arguments for and against anti-communist legislation.

Delegate Charles M. Bandiere explained the proposed law and declared it is necessary because communism is a "worldwide conspiracy directed by a foreign power seeking overthrow of the United States government."

Meyers then took the floor and denied that U.S. communists are agents of Soviet Russia or that they seek the violent overthrow of the government.

The communist official then hurled his warning that "no law" could drive the party from the state.

A crowd of more than 1,000 jammed the historic state house and battled for the 300 seats in the spectators' gallery. Special police details struggled to preserve order, and the session was late in starting due to difficulty in controlling the throng.

Drawn up by Frank B. Ober, a Baltimore attorney, the bills provide up to 20 years imprisonment for persons found guilty of un-American activities.

Galion Power Issue Agreement Believed Near

Mansfield (Ohio) News-Journal

Settlement Sought By City, OPS

Electric Firm Offers Plan

BUCYRUS — Galion's controversial electric power issue appeared nearer solution today following conferences yesterday between Galion city officials and representatives of the Ohio Public Service company.

The conferences were held after Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl overruled motions of Galion Solicitor George H. Davies that the temporary injunction, enjoining the OPS from furnishing power for two Galion industries, be made permanent and that the OPS be held in contempt of court because it accepted the franchise after the injunction was issued.

Judge Ahl announced that conferences between Galion city officials and OPS representatives would be continued in an effort to reach a settlement, whereby the private utility company would furnish such power as the city needs either at the city limits or at the power plant.

OBJECT TO POLES

Observers pointed out that such a settlement would eliminate one sore point in the issue—objections of some officials to the private company erecting poles and lines within the city.

J. L. Strelitz, Marion attorney representing the OPS, said the OPS would furnish power to the Galion municipal plant for redistribution at a rate that would enable the municipal plant to resell the power at a profit.

Meanwhile Judge Ahl granted the city of Galion leave to file an answer in the injunction action by Feb. 15 and also gave Solicitor Davies until Feb. 26 to plead in the same action.

Another conference between Galion city officials and OPS representatives is scheduled to be held next Monday night in Galion.

Present at today's conferences were J. L. Strelitz and J. M. Halberstein, representing OPS; Solicitor Davies, Attorneys Myers and Spurlock of Bucyrus and Carl Gugler of Galion, Kels Poister, Galion service-safety director; Galion Mayor H. H. Hartmann, Galion Councilman Otto Pfeifer, Floyd Myers, John Anker and Ralph Graham; N. R. Roberts, OPS sales engineer, Carl H. Henkel, Mansfield attorney, and Walter Williams, chief engineer at the Galion municipal light plant.

The fight started last Oct. 5 when Galion city council passed an ordinance authorizing the Ohio Public Service company to furnish electric power to two factories. Council held that the Galion municipal light and power plant facilities were inadequate for the industrial load.

VETOES MEASURE

Mayor H. H. Hartmann vetoed the measure Oct. 13, but on Nov. 4 council repassed the ordinance over the mayor's veto.

Judge Ahl issued a temporary injunction Nov. 13 restraining Ohio Power from furnishing power to the factories until referendum petitions were filed. These petitions, which would submit the ordinance to Galion voters for their approval or disapproval, were filed with the mayor Dec. 3.

On Jan. 8, a mandamus action was filed by Galion City Solicitor George H. Davies and allowed by Judge Ahl. The writ ordered the council to submit the ordinance to a vote of electors.

On Feb. 4, council, through Attorney Carl Gugler of Galion, filed an answer to the writ, seeking its dismissal.

Push Work On Addition To Seminary

Library, Laboratory Added to Structure

Work on a three-story addition to the Sacred Heart seminary, on State Route 39, near Shelby, which will provide additional classrooms, laboratory and library space, is nearing completion.

The addition, attached to the south side of the present structure, with its new facilities, will permit the old classrooms to be abandoned and converted into private rooms for students, a spokesman said.

On the west side of the present buildings, a new boiler room is being constructed. The boiler will be used to heat the entire institution and will serve as a base for a new chapel to be constructed there.

Friebe and Hartman, Inc., Shelby, are contractors on the two-unit construction work.

Minnesota Commemorative Stamp Issue Due March 3

A new three-cent stamp, being issued March 3 through the St. Paul, Minn., post office will commemorate the 100th anniversary of the creation of the Minnesota Territory, Curtis L. Ford, acting postmaster, said today.

The new stamp will be issued in sheets of 50 subjects, Ford said, and the printing of 100,000,000 has been authorized.

Stamp collectors desiring first-day cancellations of the stamp may send addressed envelopes, not in excess of 10, to the Postmaster, St. Paul, Minn., with postal note or money order remittance to cover the cost of stamps to be affixed, Ford said.

Those collectors desiring stamps of selected quality for philatelic use will find this new stamp available at the Philatelic Agency, Post Office department, Washington, 25, D. C., on or after March 3, 1949, it was learned.

Local officials expect the new stamp will be available in the Mansfield office within a week or 10 days after the announced date of issue.

The central design of the stamp, which is printed in green, depicts a pioneer moving westward with a Red River ox cart. The bottom border is formed by a dark panel in which is the

"3 cent United States Postage" in white Gothic. In the upper left portion of the stamp, arranged in four lines of dark Gothic, is "Minnesota Territorial Centennial 1849-1949". In the same style in the upper right corner appears the lettering, "Red River Ox Cart".

Duke Gets His Tractor

Duke Thomas bought a farm with the money he'd saved in the Service, but he couldn't get a tractor. He needed it badly, but was tenth on the local dealer's list.

"Tell you what," old man Peters says. "If those nine fellows ahead of you agree, you'll get the next one I get in." "No, thanks," says Duke, "I'll just take my turn."

But old Peters mails out nine postcards. And the other day he tells Duke his tractor will be in next week. "I simply wrote the facts to the fellows ahead of you. They decided it."

From where I sit, it's that spirit of understanding that helps make our democracy so great. Understanding for the other fellow's problems and respect for the other fellow's rights—whether it's his right to earn a living, his right to cast his vote against your candidate, or even his right to enjoy a moderate, friendly glass of beer or ale—if and when he chooses. Let's always keep it that way!

Navy Kids Get a 'Bang' Out of Alaska

By RALPH DIGHTON

KODIAK ISLAND, Alaska — Navy kids playing blithely here in the shadow of the Russian bear can identify PB4Y2's and R4D's with the same ease that stateside youngsters distinguish between Fords and Chevrolets.

The PB4Y2 is a four-engine navy patrol bomber. The R4D is a twin-engine transport. They and the "clunks" (four-engine C-54's) are familiar sights in the skies above this volcanic island; home of the only major naval base in Alaskan waters.

What would happen if a plane they couldn't identify were suddenly to appear? The kids know the answer to that, too.

Once every month they participate in defense drills, and get a big bang out of it.

Little Brian Thomas, who is not quite three, has spent half his life on Kodiak Island. His father, Lt. Com. Thomas R. Caldwell, district ordnance officer, brought Brian here with the rest of his family 18 months ago from San Francisco.

Brian already can spot aircraft like a combat veteran, and thinks there's nothing unusual about his accomplishment. All the other kids can do it.

His six-year-old sister Kathleen can remember another kind of existence back in the states, but she honestly believes she likes this life best.

Tom Caldwell, 29, and his pretty 26-year-old wife, live in a big, roomy cottage on the top of a knoll overlooking St. Paul's harbor. From the living room they get a view you couldn't buy for $25,000 anywhere else. In this idyllic spot, only a few days ago, Caldwell found a few yards from his house the 12-inch-long tracks of a wild kodiak bear. Untamed bears and beautiful scenery are poor substitutes however, for the everyday luxuries of home.

GOOD MILK PRODUCER

LEXINGTON — Willeben Romeo Ophelia, a Holstein-Friesian association registered cow owned by W. B. Cockley here, produced 510 pounds of butter fat and 18,886 pounds of milk in 307 days of two milkings daily when eight years of age, the association reported.

Taft Entry Into 1952 Race Hinted

Must First Win
Old Post Again

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Don't scratch Senator Robert Alphonso Taft of Ohio from your list of 1952 Republican presidential possibilities.

Although Taft says "never again" — although he will be 63 years old by the time the next Republican convention rolls around — a lot of people say that if he gets the right "breaks" he could be a formidable candidate.

No. 1 on the Taft agenda right now is the problem of getting re-elected to the Senate in 1950. Well-heeled labor probably will put up an opposition dwarfing anything a senator has faced before.

The Democrats — who perhaps surprised themselves in carrying it for President Truman, look on the 1950 Ohio campaign as a sort of proving ground for 1952.

They have tried to hand reactionary and isolationist labels on Taft. But they may meet a new man in 1950.

Already Taft has begun to shape himself differently for the public eye. For one thing, he isn't sticking his neck out in opposition to everything President Truman proposes.

Taft always was ahead of many of his GOP colleagues in backing housing, health, school aid and other welfare measures. But he was quick on the draw in fights with the president over such issues as price controls. Some Republicans complained that he spoke out without consulting them.

THE NEW 'TAFT'

The new Taft — still entrenched as chairman of his party's policy committee — holds his fire. He has to consult his colleagues, he says, before he blasts away at the administration.

That doesn't mean the Ohioan is any less opposed to price controls and many other of the paraphernalia of the Truman deal.

It doesn't mean, either, that he won't fight to the last vote to prevent all of the Taft-Hartley act from going down the congressional drain. But he may be more the worker in the vineyard, rather than the fellow out front.

Unless something changes his mind, Taft is going along on continued operation of the Marshall plan. He probably will take a stride the proposed North Atlantic Security pact — if the administration meets the terms laid down by Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

The Ohio senator says he is ready to meet labor's opposition head-on. His friends don't think the Taft-Hartley act added up to political bad news for him.

Four years is a long time ahead. Some other Republican may eclipse him completely.

PILES Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, rain in black and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Russian Spies Have Adroit Methods

EXPOSURE of the Russian spy ring which was able to learn that Japan would not attack the Soviets, whereas the Germans would do so, is something to give us pause. The Japanese had a highly organized "Thought Police" that appeared to operate with almost unlimited authority in ferreting out activities which the nation's rulers considered inimical to their plans for imperialist expansion.

Obviously the Thought Police flubbed miserably in any detection of the Soviet spy ring. One of the reasons appears to be that the spies were able to obtain the confidence of highly placed persons.

Current revelation of Robert E. Stripling, former chief investigator of the House un-American activities committee, that the communists in the U. S. have, wittingly or unwittingly, received aid from personages high in government, sounds graver now.

We are accustomed to place great confidence in the operation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. However, accumulation of evidence against criminals or traitors is not enough. There must be prosecution based on the evidence. And also the facts MUST BE MADE PUBLIC so that the people become aware of what goes on and can demand prosecution if it is not forthcoming through normal channels.

It is common knowledge that the communists are hard at work, not only in government itself, but in the social life of small communities, seeking to spread seeds of distrust and hate. Any shred of fact about communist activities should be exposed. Secret files do no good. Secrecy is the cancer of democratic government.

Edison's Bequest To the World

AS THE birthday anniversary of Thomas A. Edison is being observed today, and remembering that his birthplace is nearby Milan, it seems that every young person in this area should find inspiration in reading the life story of this product of a neighboring small town whose impress is felt in every phase of modern living.

While Edison is best known for three of his inventions—the incandescent lamp, the phonograph and motion pictures, it is worthy of note that he was granted 1,097 patents in his lifetime and that many of the conveniences now taken for granted are developments of his early experimentation.

Eulogizing the "Wizard of Menlo Park," as Edison came to be known, Charles F. Kettering, distinguished inventor and scientist, once said: "Every citizen is as much a beneficiary of Mr. Edison as if he had been mentioned in his will. The comparatively small sum of money he may have received for his inventions is microscopic in comparison with the public's benefits—yours and mine."

Science, research and invention have made great strides since the death of Edison in 1931, and each generation must be looked to for those capable of leading the way toward further progress. Preparation for such responsibility rests upon the young people who are now in school or college—some of them MUST make ready for above average accomplishments . . . with encouragement of a free enterprise system which assures equality of opportunity but which also rewards exceptional capability.

How Can Millions of Homes Be Built?

FOR DECENT SHELTERING of the people, this country needs nearly eighteen million new houses and other family dwelling units in the next ten years, according to Raymond E. Foley, federal housing administrator. There seems to be no reason to question his estimate, and if it is right only half enough houses are now being built.

New dwellings are being constructed at the rate of about 900,000 a year, as a round figure. The rate would have to be doubled to fill the need cited by Mr. Foley. Even in the busiest period after the war the rate did not pass a million a year.

But the rate of building now is becoming lower rather than higher, and builders say the reason is that demand is slackening for houses at present prices. If it is difficult to sell the current production of houses, how would twice that many be disposed of?

Some say the government should subsidize building—should put up part or all of the cash for low-rent housing developments and give financial help to those who want to buy low-cost houses. Others say prices could be brought down through improved building methods, including wider application of prefabrication, and that this also would increase the number of houses.

Soviet Atheism To Be Sternly Rebuked

THE EYES of a world that now realizes the final showdown between Catholicism and communism has come will turn to Rome on Monday.

There, in the ancient Vatican, the papal senate will meet in secret and extraordinary consistory by order of Pope Pius XII to draft a definite plan of action to counteract Josef Cardinal Mindszenty's imprisonment for life.

The event is one that is almost without precedent. The decisions to be reached will have a tremendous bearing on Catholic life and action for years to come.

The consistory was bound to come even if the Hungarian government had not outraged the Christian world by its persecution of Catholics.

FRANCIS CARDINAL SPELLMAN: "I warn once again, and I warn Americans because I love America, that not until every communist cell is removed from our government, our own institutions, not until every democratic country is returned to democratic leadership, will America herself be safe from conquest by communism."

SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON: "The Soviet-controlled Hungarian authorities seek to discredit and coerce religious leadership in Hungary in order to remove this source of moral resistance to communism."

POPE PIUS XII: "For the liberty of the church and its sacred and holy rights, one must endure not only labor and pain, but also the privation of life when it is necessary."

Loaf Problem—What's Holding It Up?

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Federal Jobs Unattractive As 'Career'

THE HOOVER Commission on organization of the executive branch of the government is hesitant about exact estimates of economy. But John Stevenson, president of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company and head of the Hoover task force on federal personnel, estimates that $600,000,000 can be saved through proper hiring and firing practices.

The Stevenson study reveals a large number of amazing facts about federal employment. We have all been informed and disturbed about the huge increase in federal jobs.

In 25 years federal employment grew from 570,000 to a peak of 3,700,000 in 1945. It is now 2,100,000.

But this is not the most serious part of the matter. We are getting less and less service for our money. The turnover in federal employment is appallingly high. Since the end of the war the government has lost 3,900,000 employees and has hired 2,800,000.

This means a total of 6,700,000 "personnel movements" which, of course, involve vast paper work, movements of men, women and families and great expense both to those people and to the government.

It is estimated by former Civil Service Commissioner Flemming that the turnover in federal jobs is 500,000 a year—nearly one in four. This means 3 per cent a month.

No private company has such an appalling source of disorder and waste. No private company could have it and stay in business.

The rate of turnover is so heavy and fast that normal civil service operations fall far behind. When the rigmarole of advertising competitive examinations and so forth cannot be applied, people are appointed on a temporary basis. Fifteen thousand a month receive such temporary appointments.

Because getting rid of incompetents is such a long and painful process, very few of these departures are forced. The incompetents stay. The ambitious leave. The great majority of those who leave the service do so because they are dissatisfied.

Half of those who stated their reasons for leaving said they left because of low pay. And after they had left, 71 per cent reported that they were getting more than they had received from the government. Only 16 per cent said they would voluntarily return, and two-thirds said they would never advise anyone to seek a federal career.

Deep-Rooted Faults. FEDERAL employment is thus regarded by those who have sampled it as a poor sort of career.

All this has been apparent for some years and, as always in government, "scientific" means have been employed to discover the cause and apply a cure. But, ironically, the means employed to help have simply added new expense while things were getting worse. "Personnel management" as a direct service was not known as a separate activity in most departments 10 years ago. But begunning at that time, the government began hiring experts in "personnel management." The salary cost of such specialists has increased six-fold since 1940. The budget bureau reports that 23,430 people are engaged in personnel work at a cost of $76,000,000 a year. That this service has hardly paid its way is shown by the steady deterioration already mentioned.

The cure must be much more fundamental than the mere employment of personnel specialists. The whole concept of civil service, once adopted to cure the spoils system, is outmoded. No single civil service commission can do the job.

Employment must be decentralized. Each department must run its employment, subject to standards and auditing by the civil service commission. Merely to increase salaries will not suffice. The laws regulating removals must be changed. And lines of authority must be simplified.

The old spoils system was wasteful, but the cure has become almost as bad.

Frankly Speaking

That Japanese Spy Ring

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The papers are full of the story of the Soviet spy ring which worked with vast success in Japan.

Compared with this, the Soviet spy ring smashed in Canada and the alleged Soviet spy ring here look like peanut politics.

It is the most startling spy story of our times, and perhaps of any time. The Japanese finally discovered the ring and crushed it during the war. And now the American Army in Japan has just released the story.

It revolves around two men, the leaders of the ring, and both communists.

Richard Sorge, a German, and Ozaki Hozumi, a Japanese. Both were newspapermen. And both were hanged by the Japanese.

Sorge, posing as a Nazi, was an adviser to the German ambassador in Tokyo. He couldn't have been much closer to secrets.

And Ozaki Hozumi, posing as a loyal Japanese, was an adviser to the Japanese cabinet. That, too, was the best place for secrets.

Both men were helped by a ring of Japanese communists or communist-sympathizers, gathering information about Japan for the use and benefit of Soviet Russia. But why did they work against their homeland?

It's getting to be a familiar story. These Japanese communists gave pretty much the same reasons as the Canadian communists when they were caught. The driving reason in both spy cases, as the Army report from Tokyo points out, was a "fanatical faith in the perfection of life and intention in the Soviet Union."

How It Was Done. THE JAPANESE, like the Canadians, weren't working for money. They worked for something they believed in: Communism.

And they believed whatever was good for Soviet Russia was good for what they hoped for: World Communism.

But when you read through the whole Canadian spy case evidence and the 32,000-word Army report on the Japanese spy case, one thing stands out.

The tremendous time and effort the Russian communists put into both spy rings; the thoroughness; the amazing attention to the very small details.

And that, of course, brings up the big question:

If Russia went to all this trouble to have spy rings working in Canada and Japan, what kind of spy ring did it—does it—have operating in this country?

In spite of all the publicity the House un-American activities committee got, and the federal grand jury investigation in New York, the U. S. government still hasn't proved in court there has been any spying here.

Yet, it seems absurd to think the Russians would fail to set up a ring here, either before the war, during it, or now.

If they did do that, then such a ring here was more successful in one way than the ones in Canada and Japan, for they were uncovered and proved to have existed.

At his trial Ozaki Hozumi told how he went about spying. He just used his friends. He didn't go around with a flashlight at night, rooting through secret papers in a dark room.

His friends were in high places. He didn't ask "specific leading questions." He liked people, and people liked him. And he talked with them; and he listened. Particularly he listened.

And when he put together all the pieces of information he had heard, and came up with some answers which he sent to Russia. And they were good answers. The Russians didn't pick any dopes.

As Cerf Tells It Benny Goodman, rehearsing for one of his occasional classical recitals with conductor Tom Scherman, inadvertently addressed the latter as "Mr. Stokowski." "Golly, I'm sorry, Mr. Scherman," he hastened to apologize. "To get square you call me Harry James."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Picketing Argentine Embassy Unpleasant

WASHINGTON—Not since the pigs got out and muzzed up our lawn last week when I stood in front of the Argentine embassy checking on admirers of Gen. Harry Vaughan, the President's military aide, when he received his medal from dictator Peron.

She said it was undignified, that I made a spectacle of myself and that I should save my energy for more important things.

Probably she is right. She usually is. Of course, Mrs. P. has always wanted me to be a pundit like Walter Lippmann, even though I tell her that I've been a working reporter all my life and can't get over it.

Moreover, she has to put up with a lot of ribbing about me from all sorts of people and even some snubbing from the social bigwigs with whom my name is mud. So I don't blame her for being sore.

Furthermore, I did feel foolish standing out in front of the Argentine embassy. The funny thing was that I have probably spent more hours and days inside that same embassy than anyone else in Washington.

Once Democratic Argentina.

THAT was back in the days when I was writing for La Nación of Buenos Aires and when Argentina, then a democracy, was trying to strengthen its ties with the United States.

We had some distinguished Argentine ambassadors in those days, including Felipe Espl and before him Honorio Pueyrredon. They frequently argued with the United States. They vigorously opposed our high protective tariff, especially our restrictions on meat and alfalfa.

But they kept things on a clean, aboveboard level. There was no unreasonable military force waving a sword in the background; there was no censorship of the press; or firing of the Supreme Court, or revolutionary intrigues in neighboring countries.

Pueyrredon is dead now, after having led about the last democratic fight in Argentina, while Ambassador Espl married an American and was considered so pro-American that he had to retire.

The Argentine people are among the most charming and gracious to be found any place, and the members of the Argentine embassy staff today—even under Peron—doubtless are equally so.

However, that is not the point. The point is that Argentina has become the most undemocratic nation in the Western Hemisphere, and its influence—which is considerable—is anti-American.

U. S. Vs. Argentina.

IN OTHER words, while President Peron is wooing Mr. Truman's military aide with a high decoration, he is simultaneously trying to undermine all the things the United States stands for in Pan-America.

Mr. Truman, for instance, has been a great champion of civil rights. He does not go in for the indiscriminate arrest of his political critics. He has also made a great many speeches championing the democratic freedoms, and has spent many billions of the taxpayers' money trying to bolster the discouraged democracies of Europe.

Yet simultaneously he has been a forerunner of military dictatorship right in our own Pan-American show window. And when the military dictatorships have knocked out the democracies, it is almost always because they have been inspired or secretly encouraged by Peron—the man who now makes it appear that he and the White House are as one through his ceremony in honor of Mr. Truman's military aide.

It was no accident that Peron gave that medal. He knew that its acceptance would be interpreted throughout Latin America as meaning Truman himself had given his blessing to the ceremony.

He knew that it would strengthen his hand immeasurably—strengthen it to continue undercutting the United States.

That's why I took the trouble to give some publicity to the fact that there were a few people in this country who objected strenuously to having the White House linked with dictator Peron. And in order to publicize this objection in the press of Latin America, it was necessary to dramatize it; do something spectacular—such as picketing the Argentine embassy.

Note—General Vaughan's Argentine decoration must be approved by the Senate if he is to keep it. It will be interesting to see what senators vote against it. Senator Ed Johnson of Colorado, Democrat, is the only one who has raised an eyebrow so far.

Singing Congressman.

CONGRESSMAN Norris Cotton, New Hampshire Republican, injected a note the other day into the debate over repealing the margin tax. He sang:

In the middle of a discussion in the House cloakroom, Cotton boomed out in song to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland." "Gone the day when cow is queen," sang the gentleman from New Hampshire. "Margarine, my margarine." (Copyright, 1949)

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

SEN. McMAHON'S suggestion of a fireside chat from the Kremlin might interest Joe. He already has a "Take It or Leave It" program piped into Norway.

That's for the first 13 weeks, then he shifts to "Double or Nothing."

But I don't know that Stalin would extend the facilities of the Soviet radio to Mr. Truman. In his domestic talks he seems to have made Democrats even out of Republicans.

Meanwhile the New York committee is still clamoring for a fair trial and we ought to let them have one. As in communist Budapest.

But I don't seem to recall the Budapest court giving defendants two weeks to grill the judges and attack the system.

ODD FACT

The greenback was a name loosely given during the American Civil War to all United States banknotes from the color of some of them.

Houses That Jack Built

By INEZ ROBB

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Wanna buy a palace? Anyone with a yen for a palace can have his choice here of several old, pseudo-Spanish, Grand Central Italian or Calvin Collidge Mediterranean, for five to ten cents on the dollar.

Or make an offer.

The million dollar palazzos put up here in wholesale lots during the roaring twenties are now a drug on the market. Several of them, along North and South Ocean boulevard, are boarded up. And at least one of them, the old Edward T. Stotesbury mansion, is falling into decay.

These sprawling stucco castles, with as many as 80 servants' rooms, are the victims of death, taxes and the servant problem, which we always have with us.

In the main, these enormous houses were built in the twenties when all God's children had fists full of money and when inheritance and income taxes were scarcely a gleam in the government's eye. They were built by a generation not only accustomed to live in the grand manner, but able to pay the freight.

Today, the children and grandchildren of that generation are not only wedded to the simple life on a mere handful of millions, but in the face of present taxation and servant troubles couldn't possibly maintain such costly white elephants if they wanted to.

Even this Gold Coast has almost forgotten the lush days when the late "Neddie" Stotesbury, senior partner of J. P. Morgan, and his late wife employed 125 servants, including gardeners, to maintain their winter home here.

Can't Give 'Em Away.

MRS. STOTESBURY, the social leader of Palm Beach until her death eight years ago, entertained on a scale rather envied by the inhabitants of Buckingham Palace. Livered footmen lined each side of the long sweeping staircase that led to the main floor whenever she entertained.

If there's a liveried footman left in Palm Beach today, he's under wraps. Anyone in residence who can afford a butler who can mix a Martini without sampling the gin and a maid who doesn't put both thumbs in the soup, is living in clover.

Catholic, Protestant and Jew are expressing the indignation of all men who worship God and reverence men of God.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Monday, Feb. 11, 1929.

Sales representatives of Tappan Stove company were here for annual convention and conference.

Raymond Wheeler, former Mansfield resident, was here from San Francisco for visit.

William E. Potter, 62, Mansfield business man, died in Ashland hospital.

Mrs. Harry L. Ackerman was elected president of Y. W. C. A. to succeed Mrs. Anna M. Knot.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ora Garverick, 215 South Diamond street.

Miss Dana Luella Pittenger, 17, member of senior class MHS, died in Gates hospital, Elvira.

Magazine solicitor was being sought by police after complaints of misrepresentation.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On February 11, 1893, the Emperor of Austria contributed $40,000 toward the new reading-room at the Vatican.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"Who's wipin' the dishes tonight? . . . Casey Jones or the gate man?"

Part of the old Stotesbury acreage already is a real estate subdivision, sprouting modest, three-bedroom houses in which Palm Beach's new guard is happily at home.

But no one wants any part of the old Stotesbury mansion, not even as a gift. It has been refused to schools and charitable organizations.

Even the five-and-dime millions are quite inadequate today to maintain the palazzos these same millions built in the twenties. The huge, rambling villa built by Mrs. James P. Donahue, daughter of the founder of the Woolworth stores, has undergone the strangest metamorphosis of all.

Mrs. Donahue sold her castle to a real estate speculator who has not only subdivided the acreage, but also the house!

The real estate operator decided to build a road through the property which bisected the house.

But there was still so much house left over that he was able to remodel the two halves into a total of four large, separate dwellings.

The new road runs through what was once Mrs. Donahue's drawing room, a modest outfield some 100 feet long by 50 feet wide.

One of the colony's gaudiest architectural wonders is open this season for the first time in several years. Mrs. Anna Dodge Dillman, one-time widow of automobile magnate Horace Dodge, still has the chips to maintain her palace.

But Mrs. Dillman is trying to get rid of it by sale or by outright gift to some charitable organization. So far, not even a charity group will touch it with a ten-foot pole.

These are merely some of the houses that Jack built. Big Jack, that is. Little Jack can have 'em today.

Dave Boone Says:

SHOWING again its complete absence of heart, of charity, and of fundamental respect for any sentences imposed on Cardinal Mindszenty and his fellow priests have stirred America and most of the rest of the world as they have been stirred few times in history.

Even on the far-fetched assumption that a priest, minister or rabbi could be guilty of such charges, nowhere would you find a delight in such swift, brutal, one-sided trials with no reflection of regret or pity by the prosecutors.

Note the difference before the Kremlin way and the American way. The Cardinal was tried and convicted in less time than has already been given in New York to the demands of the communists for a jury more to their liking. It could be that the march of communism will be stopped not by war and not by diplomats but by world-wide repugnance to the Hungarian trials and others of the same pattern.

Timely Editorial

More Or Less, Perhaps

It probably will be a surprise to the average cigarette smoker to learn that he, or she, smokes 4,000 cigarettes a year. If these cigarettes were laid end to end someone most likely would reach for them, as is often done anyhow.

A survey just completed for Business Week by Professor Charles W. Williams of the University of Louisville, reveals that a total of 350,000,000,000 cigarettes went up in smoke during 1948.

The consumption of cigarettes was 4 per cent higher during the past year than in 1947. No attempt is made by Professor Williams to account for this, but it may be due to the fact that so many sat up late one night last November listening to the election returns.—Ohio State Journal.

Noted Screen Stars Face Probers at Spy Hearing

In the Spring of 1947, our primary task was to uncover and subpoena Hanns Eisler, the communist composer then working at RKO.

With Eisler served and heard in a short executive session, we began calling in key Hollywood figures to hear their stories. The "friendly" witnesses, as they were called, were L. B. Mayer, Jack Warner, Sam Wood, Rupert Hughes, Adolphe Menjou, Morris Ryskind, Robert Montgomery, Robert Taylor, George Murphy, Gary Cooper, Ronald Reagan, Leo McCarey, Walt Disney, James K. McGuinness and Lela Rogers.

When they had been heard the sum of their testimony amounted to this: there were indications (with a few concrete cases) that the industry had been infiltrated, but that most of the communist venom had been absorbed by the loyal and overwhelming majority.

JOHNSON ASKS CURB
There was considerable jubilation in the ranks of the so-called "unfriendly" witnesses when the others had presented their case. Eric Johnston, who wished to confine our inquiry to an inspection of actual films, asked to be heard. Over a weekend recess he demanded that such public hearings be curbed.

Something called the Committee of the First Amendment had been organized in Hollywood, with such figures as John Garfield, Danny Kaye, Humphrey Bogart and his wife, Marsha Hunt, Paul Henreid, Paul Draper and others.

Twenty-five of them flew in to Washington and our caucus room began to take on the fruitless and disarming aura that pervaded earlier hearings where little or nothing was accomplished.

I believe all concerned, except a few members of the alliance, believed that the case against communism in Hollywood would collapse as soon as Johnston was heard.

But when Monday's hearings opened I called first on John Howard Lawson, and placed him under oath. He asked that a written statement, highly vituperative, be read into the record. Thomas declined.

When I asked if he were a communist, Lawson replied, "The question of communism is in no way related to this inquiry, which is an attempt to get control of the screen and to invade the basic rights of American citizens in all fields."

'HITLER TECHNIQUE'
Speaking above the clatter of Thomas' gavel, Lawson added, "You are using the old technique, which was used in Hitler Germany, in order to create a scare here—in order that you can then smear the motion-picture industry, and you can proceed to the press, to any form of communication in this country."

Lawson had been what amounted to the top-organizer of the communist conspiracy in Hollywood. What he said thereafter set the pattern for those who followed him to the stand: Dalton Trumbo, Samuel Ornitz, Lester Cole, Herbert Biberman, Ring Lardner, Jr., Albert Maltz, Alvah Bessie, Edward Dmytryk, Adrian Scott and others we heard, or attempted to hear.

Ten were cited for contempt. Lawson and Trumbo have been convicted in Federal court of that charge and their attorneys have appealed. The other will stand by whatever decision the higher courts hand down.

Why did we stop the hearing?

I believe I was responsible for that, just before the committee was prepared to hear Larry Parks.

I had every reason to believe that New York communist circles were about to mass-picket the House Office building and pack the caucus rooms.

Thomas was taken ill immediately after the hearing, and was reluctant to have any other member of the committee sit in as chairman on a case he had opened and for which he felt great responsibility.

The hearings should be continued and, I believe, someday will. And, it should be made abundantly clear that Congress doesn't want to control the films. Little can be gained by hearing from ten Hollywood figures and turning their truculence or reluctance into contempt citations.

The other Hollywood Reds on whom there are extensive findings must be exposed, or they (and the ones we know nothing about) can operate at will in one of our largest and most vulnerable industries.

(Tomorrow: Strippling begins the untold story of the communist conspiracy to steal U. S. A-bomb and atomic energy research secrets.)

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ONLY by the use of astute attitudes toward flagging interests or glimmering hopes and wishes, may the affairs of this day be rescued from adverse, debatable and critical involvements. Important decisions, agreements, or exceptional ventures may be saved only by clever strategies, in which irregular tactics, unique innovations, or an odd drift of ideas, fancies or imagination. Curious ideas or "dreams" might be put on workable bases by use of sound techniques although prompted by peculiar insight or intuition. Odd ventures may be turned to good account against queer beginnings.

For the Birthday. Those whose birthday it is, may be given the opportunity to turn their ideas, fancies, imagination or singular drives or urges into sound channels, by the introduction of clever strategies, special talents or skills, of a creative or novel character. Obscure, involved and unusual angles, plans, propositions or odd complications may be engineered into profitable and tangible results by use of peculiar insight, "hunches" or so-called "occult" talents or revelations.

A child born on this day, may be disposed to resort to the subtle, intriguing or unconventional, rather than the practical and realistic. Its rigid pursuit of ideals should be tempered.

FOR YOUR PARTY For your next bridge party try this bright floating candle centerpiece which can be made from things you usually have around the house. Over a low flame melt the short ends of colored candles (use the same color) after you have removed the wicks. Pour the melted candles into small salad molds and as soon as the wax begins to harden stick a wick through center of wax and hold in position till the wax sets. After the wax is hard lift the new candle out of its mold and float a half a for several hours.

Esther Class Entertained At Adams

The Esther Class of the Mayflower Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. Albert Adams, Dudley avenue, with Mrs. Earl Heston acting as assistant hostess.

Twenty members and one guest, Miss Addis Adams, heard the devotions led by Mrs. L. H. Edwards. The president, Mrs. Albert Frank conducted the business meeting at which time it was decided to send a gift to a southern missionary school and present one to the church.

Games were played during the social hour with prizes won by Mrs. Mary Seymour, Mrs. Earl Heston, Mrs. L. H. Edwards, Mrs. Dan Edwards and Miss Anna Bryant.

Luncheon was served on small trays with valentine appointments used.

The next meeting of the class will be held on March 9, at the home of Mrs. Louise Christy, Buckingham street, with Mrs. Nick Blocker assisting the hostess.

Baby Sitters Go to School

Here's good news for parents! Baby-sitters are being taken out of the hit-or-miss category and they are now going to school. An enterprising psychologist, Gladys Romanoff, has initiated a baby-sitting training course in New York which is being copied by many cities across the United States. In this course, Mrs. Romanoff gives teen-age baby-sitters straight-from-the-shoulder advice about how to handle their young charges.

One of the first things sitters learn is to insist on a warming up period with the child before the mother leaves. This gives the child a chance to size-up the stranger who is to stay with him and it makes a happier situation for all concerned. In Mrs. Romanoff's course, baby-sitters are trained in the emotional as well as physical care of children. Students learn how children develop at different age levels, and how they should never be pushed into an activity for which they are not ready.

Handling family pets also comes up for discussion in this baby-sitting course. Sitters are instructed in practical suggestions for day and night care of babies, as well as health and safety measures for the older child. When the course is finished each graduate receives a certificate, but more important says Mrs. Romanoff, is that this training helps future mothers become better parents.

CITRUS FRUITS — Florida grapefruit, oranges and tangerines are available in markets in excellent supply, and at prices which should be an invitation to their daily use. Probably the most popular use, after juice, is in fruit cups. Florida oranges and grapefruit and also tangerine sections lend themselves perfectly to a variety of fruit cup combinations. Here the sections are combined with sliced bananas and diced apple (leave red peel on for color contrast); with finely cut dates and shredded coconut; with diced avocado and chopped pimiento (omit sugar); with sliced strawberries; with orange or lime sherbet.

Another delicious way to start dinner—and still go easy on the budget—is with this winter cocktail. The Esther Class of the Mayflower Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. Albert Adams, Dudley avenue, with Mrs. Earl Heston acting as assistant hostess.

Twenty members and one guest, Miss Addis Adams, heard the devotions led by Mrs. L. H. Edwards. The president, Mrs. Albert Frank, conducted the business meeting at which time it was decided to send a gift to a southern missionary school and present one to the church.

Games were played during the social hour with prizes won by Mrs. Mary Seymour, Mrs. Earl Heston, Mrs. L. H. Edwards, Mrs. Dan Edwards and Miss Anna Bryant.

Luncheon was served on small trays with valentine appointments used.

The next meeting of the class will be held on March 9, at the home of Mrs. Louie Christy, Buckingham street, with Mrs. Nick Blocker assisting the hostess.

Baby Sitters Go to School

Here's good news for parents! Baby-sitters are being taken out of the hit-or-miss category and they are now going to school. An enterprising psychologist, Gladys Romanoff, has initiated a baby-sitting training course in New York which is being copied by many cities across the United States. In this course, Mrs. Romanoff gives teen-age baby-sitters straight-from-the-shoulder advice about how to handle their young charges.

One of the first things sitters learn is to insist on a warming up period with the child before the mother leaves. This gives the child a chance to size-up the stranger who is to stay with him and it makes a happier situation for all concerned. In Mrs. Romanoff's course, baby-sitters are trained in the emotional as well as physical care of children. Students learn how children develop at different age levels, and how they should never be pushed into an activity for which they are not ready.

Handling family pets also comes up for discussion in this baby-sitting course. Sitters are instructed in practical suggestions for day and night care of babies, as well as health and safety measures for the older child. When the course is finished each graduate receives a certificate, but more important says Mrs. Romanoff, is that this training helps future mothers become better parents.

CITRUS FRUITS — Florida grapefruit, oranges and tangerines are available in markets in excellent supply, and at prices which should be an invitation to their daily use.

Probably the most popular use, after juice, is in fruit cups. Florida oranges and grapefruit and also tangerine sections lend themselves perfectly to a variety of fruit cup combinations.

Here the sections are combined with sliced bananas and diced apple (leave red peel on for color contrast); with finely cut dates and shredded coconut; with diced avocado and chopped pimiento (omit sugar); with sliced strawberries; with orange or lime sherbet.

Galion Park Site Favored For School

Board Gets Survey Report; Studies Bids

GALION — John H. Herrick, head of the survey division of the Bureau of Education Research of Ohio State university, who recently made a survey of the North school district, recommended the Heise park site for the new elementary building, it was learned today, following a meeting of the Galion board of education last night.

Herrick was called here Jan. 25 by Supt. M. E. Shank to make a recommendation for the building site which has caused considerable controversy since the board chose to build the new school at Heise park.

The board also studied bids, which had been opened at noon, for the construction of the new South elementary school.

While the board has allowed $228,000 for the construction of elementary buildings at the North and South districts, the lowest combination of bids (general construction, plumbing and heating, and electric) totaled $238,142.44. With the architect's six per cent added to this, the cost for one building would be $252,430.98.

There were six bidders for general construction, Carl Weithman of Galion was low with a base bid of $163,889.00. Five companies bid for the plumbing and heating, and seven for the electric. Bids for plumbing and heating averaged from $38,000 to $76,310 while the low bid for electric was $16,770.16, and the high, $26,990.

Cincinnati Still Paying For Subway It Never Used

CINCINNATI—(U)—Old-timers call it the $6,000,000 hole in the ground and city officials are about ready to agree that Cincinnati's 22-year-old, never-used subway is a white elephant—one that won't be paid for until 1965.

The five-mile-long subway, occupying a section of the old Miami-Lake Erie canal and known as the rapid transit system, was planned in the hey-day of interurban rail travel, before World War I. However, work was not started until 1920.

The city decided on a $6,000,000 project. Under the plan the rapid transit would be leased to a local traction company. Voters in 1916 approved a bond issue to finance the project.

By the time work got under way in 1920, construction costs had nearly doubled and city officials realized that at least $12,000,000 would be needed to complete the project as originally planned.

Within two years, however, a double-tube subway replaced the old canal from the terminus of the waterway to the Brighton section of the city. The "loop" moved out of subway near Brighton and continued above ground to neighboring St. Bernard and Norwood, still occupying the bed of the canal.

Surface work continued for the next three years, although complications had arisen. The Ohio Supreme Court ruled that the city could not lease the property to a private concern. Then, by 1925, the automobile had taken over as a means of interurban travel.

The $6,000,000 bond issue was exhausted in 1927 and, because of the depression which followed, no immediate effort was made to obtain more funds.

Now, W. R. Kellogg, city manager, says it appears that the only practical use of the subway today would be as a freight feeder line to industries along the right-of-way. This idea hasn't passed the talking stage.

Frank L. Raschig, who was chief engineer of the project, agrees with Kellogg.

"The subway was outmoded before it was completed," he said. "It was a matter of progress catching up with us and then passing us."

Queen City residents, who will be paying off on the loop until 1965 when the remaining $100,000 in bonds are retired, have one consolation. A companion project, the Central Parkway job, was started at the same time as the subway.

The Parkway runs over the top of the subway and, if nothing else, the city has an excellent road with a substantial sub-

Cite Radar Screen Plan

WASHINGTON — (U) — The Air Force laid before Congress yesterday a joint United States-Canadian defense plan to build a radar wall at "sensitive" spots around North America.

As hearings on the proposal opened before a House Armed Services subcommittee, Rep. Carl T. Durham, (D.-N.C.) subcommittee chairman, said the warning system is designed to forestall another Pearl Harbor.

An Air Force spokesman said the plan calls for a network of radar stations to keep watch against possible aggressors, scanning air approach lanes as far out as 300 miles from the coast.

Radar "sees" only 150 miles. But picket boats and circling planes in the most strategic areas would carry radar scopes 150 miles out to sea, doubling the range.

Lauds Ohio Legislator For Taking Stand Against Complicated Bills

NEW YORK—(AP)—The third most anonymous man in America is John Smith—any John Smith. The only men more anonymous than him are those two classic buddies of the Spenserian penmanship books—John Doe and Richard Roe.

Remember your business school texts? "Pay to the order of John Doe, fifty dollars, signed Richard Roe." Or else it was "pay to the order of Richard Roe, one hundred dollars, signed John Doe."

So far as I have been able to find out that is all these two philanthropists ever did—just write worthless checks back and forth to each other.

But John Smith—there's a man of a different fiber. Yes, any John Smith.

America owes much more, by and large, to its John Smiths than to its John Does and Richard Roes, who just exchange bills of lading, receipts, bank drafts and I.O.U.'s in the nation's schoolbooks.

For the John Smiths have fought the nation's battles. The John Smiths helped clear the wilderness, tame the land to the plow. And above all, the John Smiths have been in the forefront of every great reform movement in America.

This family tradition began at Jamestown in 1607 when the first sturdy John Smith told the gentleman adventurers of the first Virginia colony:

"Work or starve."

His ultimatum didn't succeed in making either work or starvation popular in this country. But it did prove that John Smith wasn't afraid to try to do the right thing.

And the family has been like that ever since. The Smiths have been in there pitching every minute, attempting to set the world straight.

Now another John Smith is in the field, tilting his lance at one of mankind's oldest woes.

This member of the clan is John Smith, a state representative in the Ohio legislature. (Smith is a Democrat from Summit county.)

What is this John Smith's target for today, tomorrow and forever? His target is the obsolete legal language in which the people's laws are written.

Smith has announced he will introduce a resolution asking that bills be written "in precise, everyday English so as to be easily understood." He says the way bills are written now they stump experts. He says some times even the legislators don't know what they are voting on.

What a crusade! Farewell to the "whereas" and the "wherefore!" Goodbye to the "be it resolved!" Welcome to the American language!

They say ignorance of the law is no excuse. But how about the members of the U.S. Supreme Court who drop a close 5-to-4 decision? If Smith wins his fight, perhaps all nine judges will be able to agree on what Congress really means when it passes a law.

It may cause consternation in the ranks of Philadelphia lawyers, Smith, but the nation is behind you.

Oh, Smithy, on! As they say in Kansas—"Ad Astra Per Aspera"—To the stars through difficulties!

Tribute Paid L. H. Beam

County Bar Unit Lauds His Record

A resolution of respect for the late L. H. Beam, attorney in Mansfield for 51 years, has been filed with the clerk of courts by the Richland County Bar association.

The resolution was prepared by Attorneys Allen S. Beach, James W. Galbraith and C. H. Henkel, and unanimously approved by the membership of the Bar.

The resolution said: "His was an excellent record as a lawyer. The cause of a client became personal to him."

The resolution paid tribute to his efforts for the Richland county law library and to his service as city solicitor at one time.

"His was an unusually fine record in many respects," the resolution continued. The resolution was described as "the final journal entry, which brings to a close the record of the life, accomplishments and attainment of L. H. Beam."

"All have great respect for the record thus made. The entry is approved by all with a feeling that each has gained and profited by a life which evidenced strength and nobility of character, the value of industry and care and skill in all efforts and undertakings."

Some Valentines Sell For $10

Cost of Romance Is Higher

Monday will be "R" day in Mansfield.

The "R," of course, stands for Romance, the order of the day on Feb. 14, St. Valentine's day.

And a lot of valentine-shoppers are finding the custom of sending romantic greetings this year more costly than in the past.

The youngsters, especially, are going to find it an expensive project, because the day of the one-cent valentine is past. And the boys and girls planning to participate in the "valentine exchanges" which the grade school classes have each year, would be wise to take the extra money along when they make their purchases, because the cheapest greeting cards on the counters this year are five cents each.

Children with a little ingenuity and some extra time, however, can save money by making their own. Packages of 27 cards and envelopes to be cut out and assembled are available at 30 cents in some stores.

However, for those who seek something extra-special for their "one-and-only," some very fancy lace-trimmed specimens are available at prices ranging from two to ten dollars each.

COSTLY ONES SELL — One Mansfield store has been displaying a number of the ten-dollar Valentines in response to last year's requests that they stock a "more expensive" token of romantic esteem, and report the supply nearly exhausted. The five dollar varieties, too, have found favor among the valentine-sending populace, as have the greetings with a $2 price tag.

Harmon W. Kochheiser recalls that when he first started selling Valentines nearly 32 years ago the young men always paid from $3 to $5 for their "romantic messages."

"The sales were limited at that time," he said, "but we always sold from 50 to 100 each season."

There will be many disap-

CUTE VALENTINE — Linda Lorain Doelling, two-and-one-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Doelling, 580 Springmill street, who would be a cute valentine herself, displays a heartful of candy, a popular gift at this season.

pointed valentine-shoppers this year, too, as the "slam" Valentines are fast disappearing from the market. Those grotesquely-caricatured items which usually were delivered minus the senders' identity, are on the "not available" list.

The Valentine day observance is traceable to an ancient purification ceremony held on Feb. 15 and changed centuries later to Feb. 14 by the Christian church, which observed a religious festival on the old pagan feast day. The occasion marked the anniversary of the martyrdom of a saintly priest, Valentine, who conducted secret marriages of Christian couples despite the disapproval of a Roman emperor.

The custom of sending Valentine messages became popular in England and the works of Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Samuel Pepys refer to Valentine day's romantic significance.

Many of the earliest Valentines were sheets of paper with elaborately embossed borders, the blank center space to be filled in with sentimental outpourings copied by the sender in his own handwriting from six-penny pamphlets entitled "Cupid's Cabinet" and "The Gentlemen's Polite Valentine Writer."

SENTIMENT RETURNS — While some Mansfield merchants see a gradual return to the more sentimental and expensive type of Valentines (as demonstrated by the sale of five and ten-dollar varieties here this year) the demand still seems to be highest for the clever verses, with the cartoon-type drawings.

There seems to be little reason to think that the valentine trade will ever revert to the sentimental lines which graced the old-time greeting cards.

An example of this type was a valentine verse which became a best-seller back in the 1880's. The message read:

"There is one heart which beats with thine—
Which saddens when thine eye is sad
Aches when thy spirit doth repine,
And thrills with joy when thou art glad."

Compare this verse with present-day messages, the best-selling of which are:

"I'll be your Little Red Riding Hood,
If you'll be my Wolf!"

Or the card on which is pictured a youngster brandishing a gigantic lipstick as he commands:

"Hey, you!
Put this ON and
Lemme TASTE IT!"

Not quite as tender as the old-time Valentines, say some of the young lads and gals, but a lot more effective!

Recordings will be controlled from the study where a member of the board of deacons will turn the switch for the recording of the anthem, then turn it off until time for the sermon. The spoils may be cleared and used again.

"You can readily see what this will do for permanent shut-ins," car.

GOOD WORD FOR CITY

Mansfield's public park system got many words of praise in the January issue of "Park Maintenance." The story of the formation of the parks by groups of interested citizens in various sections of the city was outlined in an article in the magazine by G. V. Sowers, secretary of the park commission.

SNOW AND POSIES

A letter received by Mrs. Lloyd Kiefer, 264 Herman avenue, from Mrs. Pauline Black, who is spending the winter in Texas, describes that state's first snowfall. Mrs. Black says that all youngsters and older people, too headed for the nearest hillside to enjoy sled-riding. She reported that many people made their own sleds by nailing boards together in order to enjoy the snow. The children made snowmen, while at the same time Mrs. Black was picking a bouquet of jonquils from the garden at the home of her son, Robert Black, with whom she is spending the winter in Houston.

STRANDED — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Raphael, 163 West First street, have received word from their son, Thomas Raphael Jr., who enlisted in the Navy last Thursday, that he is stranded in Rawlins, Wyo., because of the heavy snowstorms that hit that area again this week. Raphael was on his way to San Diego, Calif., for recruit training at the Naval Base.

The other girl, aged 15, was placed on probation until the end of the school year. City school officials were told to keep the court informed on the girl's school attendance.

He traced the history of the city court from 1927 when it was created to replace the old Justice of the Peace courts and outlined its functions.

The meeting was held in the YMCA and members discussed the scheduled appearance here on March 4 of John Eklund of Denver, Colo., president of the National Federation of Teachers.

Reply to Acheson Expected

Pope Appeals To De Gasperi

BUDAPEST—(INS)—Hungary's communist-led government was reported today preparing a sharp protest against any United States attempts to bring the Mindszenty case before the United Nations.

The Budapest regime has already registered its resentment over American denunciations of the life sentence imposed on Josef Cardinal Mindszenty by ousting two U. S. legation officials.

The official government note—which is expected momentarily—will object specifically to U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson's intimation that the arrest and trial of the Roman Catholic primate may be placed before the U. N.

(Acheson's assertion that the trial has "sickened and horrified" Americans was underscored yesterday by President Truman, who termed the Cardinal's treatment "infamous." He said that the entire affair would go down as a black spot in Hungary's history.)

British Foreign Secretary Bevin handed the Hungarian minister in London a note reaffirming Britain's right to investigate acts by Hungary which may be violations of the peace treaty. Bevin's said to have stressed the British press and public's indignation over the Cardinal's imprisonment.)

ROME—(UP)—Pope Pius XII told Premier Alcide De Gasperi today that the Vatican was relying upon him to defend vigorously the doctrines of the Roman Catholic church against communist attacks in Italy.

De Gasperi paid his first official visit to the Pope as chief of the Italian government. The occasion was the 20th anniversary of the signing of the Lateran pacts regulating relations between church and state.

The Catholic premier spent 55 minutes in private conversation with the Pope in the papal library. It was the longest papal audience recalled in recent years. De Gasperi emerged smiling, and then visited St. Peter's basilica to lay a wreath at the tomb of Pope Pius XI.

Bank Debits Show Drop

Business activity slowed down slightly in Mansfield in January as compared with the same period last year, a report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland showed today.

For the first time in over a year, a decrease in bank debits (the amount of money withdrawn from commercial and savings accounts) was reported.

The January 1949 figure was 5.1 per cent below the same month last year. In other words, funds changed hands a trifle more slowly. This was partly a result of the post-Christmas decline it was reported.

Whereas reports last year showed substantial gains in nearly every Ohio city, with Mansfield's four banks reporting a record high year last year, the January report was spotted with decreases.

Monument's Eagle Back; Frat Blamed

MARION — A 25-pound cast aluminum eagle, taken from the top of the city World War II monument, was back in place yesterday, returned by some college pranksters who removed it six weeks ago.

Sheriff Leroy Retterer said the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at Ohio Wesleyan university admitted spiriting the eagle away to Delaware as a prank. Retterer said the fraternity returned the eagle Wednesday and agreed to pay for any damages done to it.

The eagle was discovered, Retterer said, by a Marion girl who attended a dance at the fraternity house.

Scott Backs Taft, Bill

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Re-election of Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., was called for today by the National Republican chairman as part of the 1950 victory necessary for a knockout in 1952.

National Republican Chairman Hugh D. Scott said last night that "The loss of Senator Taft in 1950 is an inconceivable thing that must under no circumstances happen. It would be a tragedy to the country."

Scott predicted that the greater part of the Taft-Bartley law would be retained and that only its name would be repealed.

"The Taft-Bartley law contains too many guarantees of the essential rights of working men and women for any Congress to dare to vote for its outright repeal," he said.

3 Judges Hear Case

A three-judge court will hear condemnation action brought by the city of Mansfield against the Jacob Wolf company and the Builders' Supply company in which the city seeks to appropriate land for a 42-inch storm sewer.

The motion by the plaintiff and defendants to have three judges hear the evidence and assess compensation was sustained today by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. A special jury had been called to hear the case today and assess compensation when the parties later decided to ask for three judges.

Judge Kalbfleisch set the hearing for Feb. 25 and said he had asked the chief justice of Ohio to assign two other judges to hear the case with him.

The city seeks a nine-foot strip of land occupied by the Builders' Supply company at 202 Orange street for putting in a storm sewer. The Jacob Wolf company owns the property.

Lucas Pastor To See Son Ordained

Plans to Deliver
Sermon Sunday Night

LUCAS — Rev. Edward P. Schaff, D.D., pastor of St. Paul's Pleasant Valley parish here, will deliver the sermon Sunday night, when his youngest son, David Luther Schaff, is ordained at the Lutheran church in St. Paul, where he has been the supply pastor for several months.

The Lucas pastor and his wife attended graduation exercises of their son at the Hamma divinity school in Springfield last week. They expect to leave for the ordination immediately after the close of the local church services Sunday morning.

Rev. George P. Miley, D.D., president of the synod of Ohio, will be in charge of the ordination. The liturgy will be conducted by Rev. W. D. Albeck, D.D., a Hamma professor, assisted by Rev. D. G. Van Deusen of Troy, N. Y., a former army chaplain under whom David Schaff served as an assistant chaplain.

Young Schaff was a public school music teacher prior to his army service.

Area Funeral Group Meets

GALION — Three outstanding speakers were heard when District No. 2, the Ohio State Funeral Directors association, banqueted at Hotel Talbot, here Thursday night. The district covers five counties, Crawford, Morrow, Richland, Ashland and Marion. Thursday night's meeting brought 32 funeral directors to Galion.

Speakers were Jay Seffens, contact supervisor of the district office of the Veterans Administration, Columbus; Robert L. Mock of New Concord, a member of the advisory board of the Ohio Funeral Directors association; and Jerry Gordon, executive secretary of the OFDA.

A business session which followed the dinner, was conducted by Ora Garverick of Crestline, president of the district.

Monument's Eagle Back; Frat Blamed

MARION — A 25-pound cast aluminum eagle, taken from the top of the city World War II monument, was back in place yesterday, returned by some college pranksters who removed it six weeks ago.

Sheriff Leroy Retterer said the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at Ohio Wesleyan university admitted spiriting the eagle away to Delaware as a prank. Retterer said the fraternity returned the eagle Wednesday and agreed to pay for any damages done to it. The eagle was discovered, Retterer said, by a Marion girl who attended a dance at the fraternity house.

Scott Backs Taft, Bill

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Re-election of Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., was called for today by the National Republican chairman as part of the 1950 victory necessary for a knockout in 1952. National Republican Chairman Hugh D. Scott said last night that "The loss of Senator Taft in 1950 is an inconceivable thing that must under no circumstances happen. It would be a tragedy to the country."

Scott predicted that the greater part of the Taft-Hartley law would be retained and that only its name would be repealed. "The Taft-Hartley law contains too many guarantees of the essential rights of working men and women for any Congress to dare to vote for its outright repeal," he said.

3 Judges Hear Case

A three-judge court will hear condemnation action brought by the city of Mansfield against the Jacob Wolf company and the Builders' Supply company in which the city seeks to appropriate land for a 42-inch storm sewer.

The motion by the plaintiff and defendants to have three judges hear the evidence and assess compensation was sustained today by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. A special jury had been called to hear the case today and assess compensation when the parties later decided to ask for three judges.

Judge Kalbfleisch set the hearing for Feb. 25 and said he had asked the chief justice of Ohio to assign two other judges to hear the case with him.

The city seeks a nine-foot strip of land occupied by the Builders' Supply company at 202 Orange street for putting in a storm sewer. The Jacob Wolf company owns the property.
